Cancer of the Tongue.
My wife some three or four years ago, was troubled with an ulcer on the side of her tongue near the throat. The pain was incessant, causing loss of sleep and producing great nervous prostration. Accompanying this trouble was rheumatism. It had passed from the shoulders and centered in the wrist of one hand, she almost losing the use of it. Between the suffering of the two, life had grown burdensome. By the use of a half dozen small sized bottles of Swift's Specific, she was entirely relieved and restored to health. This was three years ago, and there has been no return of the disease.

Wretched, Indeed,
Are those whom a confirmed tendency to biliousness, subject to the various and changeful symptoms indicative of liver complaint. Nausea, sick headache, constipation, furred tongue, an unpleasant breath, a dull, sharp pain in the neighborhood of the affected organ, impurity of the blood and loss of appetite, signalize it as one of the most distressing, as it is one of the most common of maladies. There is, however, a benign specific for the disease and all its unpleasant manifestations. It is the concurrent testimony of the public and the medical profession that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is a medicine which achieves results speedily, thorough and benign. Besides rectifying the disorder it invigorates the feeble, conquers kidney and bladder complaints, and hastens the convalescence of those recovering from enfeebling diseases. Moreover, it is the grand specific for fever and ague.

[illegible]
No single disease has entailed more suffering, or hastened the breaking up of the constitution, than Catarrh. The sense of smell, of taste, of sight, of hearing, the human voice, the mind—one or more, and sometimes all, yield to its destructive influence. The poison it distributes throughout the system attacks every vital force, and breaks up the most robust of constitutions. Ignored, because but little understood by most physicians, impotently assailed by quacks and charlatans, those suffering from it have little hope to be relieved of it this side of the grave. It is time, then, that the popular treatment of this terrible disease by remedies within the reach of all, passed into hands at once competent and trustworthy. The new and hitherto untried method adopted by Dr. Sanford in the preparation of his RADICAL CURE has won the hearty approval of thousands. It is instantaneous in affording relief in all head colds, sneezing, snuffling and obstructed breathing, and rapidly removes the most oppressive symptoms, clearing the head, sweetening the breath, restoring the senses of smell, taste and hearing, and neutralizing the constitutional tendency of the disease towards the lungs, liver and kidneys.
SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE consists of one bottle of the RADICAL CURE, one box of CATARRHAL SOLVENT and IMPROVED INHALER; price $1.

WASHINGTON.

The Annexation Bill Ready for the President.

NO PROSPECT OF FORFEITURE.

A Number of Important Measures Passed by both Houses. Work on the Regular Appropriation Bills. Capital Notes.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—At the suggestion of Senator [illegible] the bill [illegible] passed by the senate [illegible] Northern Idaho to Washington was amended by adding to section 5 of the house bill the words "in territorial criminal proceedings." Said section [illegible] provides that all cases arising in Northern Idaho pending in the supreme or district courts [illegible] of the passage of this act, shall be placed under the jurisdiction of the supreme court of Washington and under the Fifth district [illegible] of that territory. The bill was further amended by adding the following: "All crimes heretofore committed in the territory [illegible] of Washington shall be prosecuted [illegible] in the same manner [illegible] as if this [illegible] had not passed." [illegible] Speaker Carlisle laid the bill as amended before the house to refer it to the committee on territories. Delegate Voorhees stated that he had secured the consent of a majority of the committee to accept the senate amendment, and therefore moved that the house agree to the same. The motion carried and the bill as amended now goes to the president. All north of the following boundary line is the part of Idaho annexed: Commencing in the middle of the main channel of Snake river due west of the headwaters of Rabbit creek, thence east to the headwaters of Rabbit creek, thence down said creek to its junction with Salmon river, thence up said river to the junction of Horse creek, thence up the east fork of Horse creek to the crest of the Bitter Root mountains, as the eastern boundary of Idaho.

TO VALIDATE ACTS OF THE LEGISLATURE.

The senate to-day passed the bill introduced by Dolph providing that any act heretofore passed by the legislative assembly of Washington territory which has failed to express in its title the object embraced in the act, or which has embraced therein more than one object, shall be validated. Delegate Voorhees states that the speaker of the house has promised to recognize him for the purpose of having this bill passed and he feels certain that it will become a law this session.

NO HOPE OF FORFEITURE.

The house conference committee on the Northern Pacific forfeiture bill has not yet reported its last disagreement to the house. Senator Dolph states that it is useless to attempt to hold another conference meeting this session. It is manifestly impossible for an agreement on a bill to be reached, as the senate committee will not accept the house bill, and the house committee will not accept the senate bill. He states that another conference meeting will not be held. The fate of the forfeiture bill is therefore sealed for this congress.

RAILROADS AND RESERVATIONS.

The difficulty experienced in securing congressional action for railroad rights of way through Indian reservations has suggested to Delegate Bailey of Idaho a general bill, which he has introduced, authorizing the secretary of the interior to grant rights of way through such reservations to railroad telegraph and telephone lines, also for ditches and canals. Of course he does not expect action on the bill this congress.

By presidential order the military reservation of Fort Colville, W. T. has been transferred to the custody of the interior department, it being no longer needed for military purposes. T. C. J.

HOUSE.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—On motion of Crisp of Georgia the rules were suspended and the senate amendments to the house joint resolution for the investigation of the accounts of the Pacific railroads were non-concurred in. A conference was ordered and an agreement quickly reached and shortly after the house agreed to the conference report. The substance of the agreement in conference is as follows: The house conferees adopted the senate amendments, but the clause creating the commission was modified by striking out the requirement that the commissioners shall be subject to confirmation by the senate and so arranging the phraseology that the president's power to appoint them during recess shall be beyond question.

On motion of Voorhees of Washington territory, the senate amendments were concurred in to the bill annexing a portion of Idaho to Washington territory.

The house resumed consideration of the conference report on the fisheries retaliation bill, and after some discussion agreed—yeas 149, nays 131—to recede from the amendments to the senate retaliatory bill. A motion to reconsider the above vote was made. This passes the bill in the shape in which it passed the senate.

THE FISHERY BILL AGREED TO.

After debate, the report of the conference committee on the fishery bill was agreed to.

Rice moved that the house recede from its amendments to the senate bill agreed to—yeas 149, nays 134.

Miller of Texas changed his vote from the negative to the affirmative in order to enter a motion to reconsider, but this motion was laid on the table—yeas 142, nays 132. The effect of this action is to leave the bill exactly as it passed the senate.

Blount of Georgia presented a conference report on the postoffice appropriation bill announcing the inability of the conferees to agree on the bill. He moved that the house insist on its disagreement and ask a further conference. Agreed to—yeas 135, nays 107.

Crisp, of Georgia, submitted a report on the joint resolution (now a bill) for investigation of the accounts of the Pacific railroads, and it was agreed to.

Tragg of Virginia submitted a conference report on the bill compensating Albert H. [illegible] for the construction of an iron and steel test machine for the United States. The bill as it passed the senate appropriated $200,000. This sum the house reduced to $63,600. The conference report fixes the amount at $150,000.

The conference report was adopted—yeas 137, nays [illegible].

EVENING SESSION.

After recess Hatch of Missouri presented the conference report on the agricultural appropriation bill. There were two important amendments placed upon the bill as reported by the conference committee—one an appropriation of $50,000 to enable the commissioner of agriculture to continue experiments in the manufacture of sugar from sorghum and sugar cane, and the other increasing from $100,000 to $500,000 the appropriation for carrying out the provisions of the act establishing a bureau of animal industry and authorizing the commissioner to use any part of this sum deemed necessary to prevent the spread of pleuro-pneumonia and in the purchase and destruction of diseased or exposed animals whenever in his judgment it is essential to prevent the spread of pleuro-pneumonia from one state into another. There was much opposition to both these amendments, but the conference report was agreed to—yeas 148, nays [illegible].

Dingley of Maine moved to suspend the rules and pass the substitute bill with a substitute therefor to secure statistics of and to protect vessel fisheries of the United States, to provide for the taking of testimony relative to injuries inflicted by British on citizens of the United States engaged in fisheries and to amend the supplementary act of June 19, 1886. The substitute is composed of the substance of several bills pending in the house, and was characterized by Buchanan of New Jersey as a conglomerated mass of inter-[illegible] incongruities. The motion to suspend the rules was lost.

THE DIPLOMATIC BILL.

Hitt of New York presented a conference report on the diplomatic and consular appropriation bill. The report was agreed to.

A score of members rushed into the space in front of the clerk's desk and, waving their bills wildly in air, vociferously claimed recognition. The uproar was great and all real business had to be suspended. Barksdale of Mississippi was finally successful and under suspension of the rules secured the passage of a bill for printing [illegible] report of the commission of labor.

THE SUNDRY CIVIL BILL.

Randall of Pennsylvania submitted a conference report on the sundry civil appropriation bill. In the statement accompanying the report the conferees say that the senate made [illegible] amendments increasing the aggregate appropriations $[illegible] over the amount of the bill as it passed the house. Of this sum the senate [illegible] 165 [illegible]. The bill as it passed the [illegible] aggregated $[illegible]. The house [illegible] considered the senate amendments, added to the bill [illegible] and in conference $[illegible] was added for the public building at Portsmouth, Ohio, and $150,000 was added [illegible] buildings at Atlanta, Georgia, and Chattanooga, Tennessee. [illegible] conference as it passed the [illegible] in excess of the law for the current year and $[illegible] less than the estimates. The coast survey [illegible] as it was [illegible] house provision for [illegible].

The report was [illegible] two [illegible] in Senate [illegible] appropriations [illegible] Messrs. Herbert, [illegible] committees. [illegible] bills were passed for printing various public documents. The house at 12:45 adjourned.

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—Among the papers presented by the presiding officer was a communication from the secretary of war with copies of all dispatches from Gen. Miles, referring to the surrender of Geronimo and of the instructions and correspondence thereon called for by the resolution [illegible] ordered printed.

Platt from the committee on territories reported the senate bill to validate and cure defects in certain acts of the legislature of Washington territory. Passed.

MODIFIED AND REJECTED.

Crisp moved first, as in [illegible], to make the clause read [illegible] it shall appear to the president that it [illegible] cannot be [illegible] constructed advantageously in the Pacific or Gulf coast he may consider [illegible] for the building of said vessels at other places instead of suspending their construction until further action of congress.

Maxey said there should be one great navy yard established on the Gulf coast where the best of [illegible] steel, live oak and long leaved pine were at hand.

The question was then taken on Gray's amendment and it was modified and was rejected.

[illegible] $6,000,000 [illegible] heavily armed vessels or batteries or rams [illegible].

[illegible] the striking out of the [illegible] seen from [illegible] much of the [illegible] in the evening [illegible] commercial community anxiously [illegible] agreement [illegible] if not public opinion [illegible] the extra session which [illegible] would [illegible] send [illegible] your fellow [illegible] these must [illegible] could [illegible] telegram he had read public opinion was [illegible] to force an extra session of congress to make [illegible] it did not lie at the door of the senate committee.

Pending further discussion the senate went into secret session and soon took a recess till eight o'clock.

EVENING SESSION.

Consideration of the naval appropriation bill was resumed [illegible] Plumb's amendment to strike out the amendments of the committee of $6,000,000 for heavily armored vessels or armored floating batteries or rams to be used for coast and harbor defense. The amendment was rejected without division. The amendment recommended by the committee was then adopted without division. It strikes out the house provision for two swift, double-bottomed steel cruisers and four gun boats, not to cost (exclusive of armament) not more than $4,300,000, and inserts in lieu thereof a section providing for the construction by contract of six protected steel cruisers with suitable armament and speed of not less than twenty knots—the cost of all the cruisers not to exceed $9,000,000. Additional appropriations are made for machinery and armament. One of the vessels is to be built on the Pacific coast and two on or near the coast of the Gulf of Mexico. For every quarter of a knot of speed over twenty knots the contractor is to receive $50,000, and for every quarter of a knot under twenty knots $50,000 will be deducted from the contract price. Further appropriations are made as follows: For the construction of heavily armored vessels or armored floating batteries or rams to be used for coast and harbor defense $6,000,000. For the construction of light draught gun boats, suitable for interior waterways and canal service $120,000. For the construction of torpedo boats of the highest attainable speed and efficiency $600,000. For torpedoes and other explosives and torpedo appliances to be operated from naval vessels, floating batteries or rams $600,000, of which sum $50,000 shall be immediately available. For armament of these vessels $1,500,000. These appropriations to be available during five years.

TO PURCHASE THE "DESTROYER."

The next material amendment reported by the committee on appropriations and agreed to by the senate was the following: For the purchase by the secretary of the navy, if he shall deem the purchase advisable, of the Destroyer, a screw steam vessel of iron, designed and built by Capt John Ericsson, $112,000.

Aldrich offered an amendment appropriating $50,000 for the purchase of the stiletto to be used as a torpedo boat for experimental purposes. Agreed to.

The bill and amendments were then reported to the senate, the former proceedings being supposed to have been in committee of the whole. Edmunds called for the yeas and nays on the amendment for six cruisers.

Plumb moved to amend the amendment by making the first clause paragraph read: "That material used in all navy structures provided for in this act, and armament for the same, shall be so far as practicable of American production and shall be furnished and manufactured in the United States," etc. Agreed to.

A vote was then taken on the committee amendment and it was decided in the affirmative—yeas [illegible], nays [illegible]. The negative votes were as follows: Berry, Cockrell, Coke, Harris, Plumb, Vance, Van Wyck, Vest, and Wilson of Maryland.

The next amendment was the insertion of an item of $112,000 for the purchase of Ericsson's vessel the Destroyer. It was agreed to.

The bill as amended then passed without division.

THE NAVAL BILL.

The senate proceeded to the consideration of the naval appropriation bill. An amendment was inserted in the item for the bureau of steam engineering providing that no part of the appropriation shall be applied to the repair of engines and machinery of wooden ships where the stated cost of repairs shall exceed 20 per cent. of the cost of new engines and machinery of the same character and power. Under the head of "Increase of the Navy" the commissioners recommend striking out the provision for two swift, double-bottom steel cruisers and four gunboats, to cost, exclusive of armament not more than $4,390,000, and the substitution of two new sections providing for six protected steel cruisers, with speed of not less than twenty knots, to cost, exclusive of armament not more than $9,000,000, and appropriating that amount. Also appropriating for the armament of such vessels, $2,880,000. Also appropriating $6,000,000 for heavily armored vessels or rams for coast and harbor defenses. Also appropriating $600,000 for torpedo boats and $600,000 for torpedoes and $1,500,000 for armament of these vessels.

Gray questioned the policy of the provision requiring one of the six steel cruisers to be built on or near the coast of the Pacific ocean and two of them on or near the coast of the Gulf of Mexico. This was only trammeling the secretary of the navy and interfering with the general objects proposed. He was in favor of the accomplishment of what the section proposed, namely, the erection of swift, available and efficient cruisers, and therefore moved to strike out that provision.

Hale, who has charge of the bill, stated that within the bill as it was up some weeks ago a similar provision had been adopted, after full discussion, of the motion of the senator from Alabama (Morgan). He had believed then and believed now that one or two of the vessels could be built and built speedily on the Pacific coast. The committee on appropriations had embodied those features in this amendment, taking a proportionate number, and instead of giving two to the Pacific coast had given one and instead of giving three to the Gulf of Mexico had given two, leaving three to the Atlantic coast.

READY FOR THE PRESIDENT.

[illegible] from the conference committee on the [illegible] railroad inquiry bill made a report which was agreed to. The bill now goes to the president.

On motion of Milone the senate bill for the erection of a national memorial bridge over the Potomac river from Washington to Arlington, was taken up and passed.

It appropriates $3,000,000 to construct a bridge which is to be erected in honor of Lincoln and Grant. The vote was yeas 30, nays 18.

A conference report on the agricultural appropriation bill was made and agreed to.

On motion of Wilson of Iowa the house bill to amend the act of March 3, 1875, to determine jurisdiction of United States circuit courts and to regulate the removal of cases from state courts, was taken from the calendar. The committee amendments were concurred in.

Cullom proposed an amendment providing that the salaries of judges of district courts of the United States, including judges of the supreme court of the District of Columbia, shall be $5000 per annum, and that no persons related to any judge or justice of any of the United States courts within the degree of first cousin shall hereafter be appointed to any office of the court of which said justice or judge is a member. Agreed to. The bill passed. Allison.

Senator Allison from the committee on appropriations reported the legislative, executive and judicial bill with sundry amendments and gave notice that he would call it up early to-morrow. The aggregate appropriation of the bill as has been very slightly increased over the amount fixed by the house. Among the increases are the following: $2,000 for the bureau of printing and engraving, to enable the granting of annual leaves to employes, as provided by the house, and $[illegible] for pension examiners in the field. Fifteen additional clerks were given the secretary of the interior, including five law clerks and one additional board of pension examiners were provided for.

The senate then at 11:30, took recess till 10 A. M. to-morrow.

THE TEXAS INVESTIGATION.

Testimony of an ex-Congressman in Defense of the Democrats.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—Col. D. C. Giddings, ex-Congressman from Texas, and counsel for the [illegible], was the principal witness before the Texas investigating committee. He said he took an active part in the late contest. He went to [illegible] at Brenham because he was in favor of law and order, and advised abstinence from all acts of violence. He had always advised against mob law. One memorialist afterward said that his pacific course had probably saved his (the memorialist's) life. There was great dissatisfaction with the republican administration and threats had repeatedly been made to prosecute officials. He thought the [illegible] the opponents of the memorialists [illegible] their [illegible] views but the fact that they appropriated the colored vote and placed [illegible] men in office. He said the reputation of the memorialists was bad, that they were republicans for revenue only, and that when they failed of success in 1884 their occupation was gone and having lost their prestige they wanted to leave. It was his opinion that they desired to pose as martyrs before the country and be able to secure recognition in case of the ascendency of the republican party. The reason the people had not rebelled before was because they were peaceable and law-abiding people, and he believed that the people in no county in any state in the Last South or West would submit to such republican methods of administration one year, much less twenty as they had done.

The testimony of Col. Giddings closed the evidence for the defense and the committee adjourned till to-morrow, when evidence in rebuttal will be submitted.

DEMOCRATIC DISCIPLINE.

The President Punishing Congressmen who Voted to Override his Veto.

CHICAGO, March 2.—The News Washington special says: The president is very angry with certain democrats who voted to override the veto of the dependent pension bill. He has expressed his views and has spoken [illegible] language to those who [illegible] called upon him and there are a few who have already felt the force of the executive displeasure. A list of two bills have been vetoed to punish those who went back on him—a bill for a public building at Lynn, Mass. and a bill for a public building at Portsmouth, Ohio, in which a member of congress was interested, because they voted to pass the bill over the veto.

Congressman Maybury of Detroit is shaking in his shoes for fear that his bill will be vetoed too, but he dare not go near the White house.

If Matson should go up there he would hear something that would make his head swim.

The president has already given some symptom of what he would say. An Indiana congressman says that Cleveland fairly shook with rage the other day in speaking of the chairman of the committee on pensions who raked up the old bill on the president had signed several years ago for the passage of a general pension bill. He says he has no recollection of having signed it although it is quite likely that he did so without considering its merits, and Matson on finding it out ... [illegible] the house brought out on him. Matson is not likely to get any more favors out of this administration.

WASHINGTON NEWS ITEMS.

REPLIES TO A SENATE RESOLUTION.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—Acting Secretary Fairchild has forwarded to the senate, in response to Senator Aldrich's resolution calling for information in regard to the importation of distilled spirits bonded for export, two long reports, prepared by the commissioner of internal revenue. In the first report the commissioner says it is now and has been heretofore a practice of the office to collect any and all penalties and interest that have accrued on such spirits. The second report is a document of over 100 pages of foolscap and reviews every action of the department bearing on the question together with authority for so doing. It also refers at length to charges made of alleged fraudulent practices in connection with the exportation and re-importation of domestic spirits and shows that they were without foundation.

THE FORTIFICATIONS BILL.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—There have been a dozen fruitless attempts during the past twenty-four hours to get together the conferees on the fortifications appropriation bill. This bill, which failed of passage last session, appears to be lost beyond redemption. Another effort will be made to-morrow to get the conferees together, but it is confidently expected that the only result of the meeting will be the recording of a total disagreement between the two houses.

MUST GO AS INDIVIDUALS.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—In the case of British Indians wishing to emigrate to Alaska the attorney general decides that the immigration of peaceful individual Indians who have dissolved tribal relations is not prohibited by statute and is not inconsistent with the general policy of the government, but there is no provision assuring to such foreign Indians any legal right to acquire lands, neither can the president set aside a reservation for their occupation.

CLEVELAND'S COLORED MAN.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—The senate committee on the District of Columbia at a special and very short meeting this morning voted to report adversely upon the nomination of James M. Trotter, the Boston colored man nominated for recorder of the District of Columbia.

BILLS APPROVED.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—The president to-day approved the military academy appropriation bill, regular pension appropriation bill, the act to organize a hospital corps of the United States army and the act in regard to the importation of mackerel during the spawning season.

THE MORMON BILL TO BE SIGNED.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—The attorney general has informed a representative of the anti-Mormons this morning that the Mormon bill will be signed to-day. The delay has been due to a desire of the president to give the bill careful consideration.

RESTRICTION ACT DECISION.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—The treasury department has decided that the wife of a Chinese laborer is a person whose original entry into this country is prohibited by the Chinese restriction act.

CONFIRMATIONS.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—Public Printer Benedict has been confirmed by the senate.

Postmasters—J. L. Hanna, Oakland, Cal., L. Simmons, Buffalo, Wyo.

DIPLOMATIC APPROPRIATIONS.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—The diplomatic and consular appropriation bill has been agreed on in conference.

THE OIL MONOPOLY.

The Standard Company's Agent Attends the Railroad Conference at Chicago.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 2.—When A. N. Towne, J. C. Stubbs and Richard Gray of the operating department of the Southern Pacific railroad company, left this city recently to attend the conference of overland railroad officials on the inter-state commerce law it was not generally known that in the same sleeping car with these gentlemen went F. A. Tilford, president of the Standard oil company's Pacific coast branch. This was a fact nevertheless, as has since transpired, and it has also come to the knowledge of railroad men and others in this city that Mr. Tilford has been in attendance at the secret deliberations of the railroad managers all the past week. This information is naturally of an interesting character to outside oil men here, who, ever since President Cleveland signed the transportation act, have felt that the day of their deliverance from railway extortion was at hand. They believed and still believe that under an honest enforcement of the act it would be impossible for the Standard company any longer to compel railroads to make such rates as 72 cents per hundred pounds to the oil monopoly and $2.20 per hundred pounds to anybody else. Section [illegible] of the new law, prohibiting special rates, rebates, drawbacks, or other device by which one person may be favored more than another for like and contemporaneous service in transportation of freight under substantially similar circumstances and conditions, has filled the hearts of outside oil men with hope that they may some day be able to transact business here on the same plane as the present monopoly.

RAILROAD NOTES.

A GENERAL CONFERENCE.

NEW YORK, March 2.—At a conference of the [illegible] freight agents and railroad vice presidents and managers held here to-day the [illegible] allotment committee's report on which the agents and managers have been at work for the past ten days was discussed. The report of the committee was accepted by the conference as read. It is understood that the adjustment of rates proposed in the report has given general satisfaction to railroad men. The committee appointed to consider a system of wholesale reductions to traveling commercial [illegible] and excursion parties will make its report [illegible] week. Some of the western men were in favor of applying the new law very strictly, but the eastern [illegible] took a different view of the question and consider that the present system with some slight modifications will not conflict with the new inter-state commerce law. It is expected that the conference will arrive at a definite understanding to-day.

THE MEXICAN CENTRAL.

BOSTON, March 2.—The directors of the Mexican Central railroad have voted to pay full interest in cash in future upon the 4 per cent bonds [illegible] on their old scrip and debentures. [illegible] was elected to the board.

BRITISH COLUMBIA.

NEWS ITEMS FROM VICTORIA.

VICTORIA, March 2.—The special government force landed quietly at Vancouver to-day. The Chinese will return on Friday. Citizens are indignant at Mayor McLean, to whose lack of action in defending the city from mob law they now attribute the indignity of having the city placed under provincial government.

J. W. [illegible], an Argonaut and pioneer of this province since 1858, died to-day. Advices received here from [illegible] state that by the death of his brother in New York state, a large steamer owner there, Bird [illegible] has been bequeathed thirty thousand dollars.

There is [illegible] ice on the islands on the Fraser and Thompson rivers [illegible] not expected for several days more. The Fraser river is blocked with ice. Navigation is stopped to New Westminster.

FOREIGN.

A Crisis Impending on the Irish Question.

STRONG PRESSURE FOR COERCION

Indications Both of European Peace and War—Berlin Votes against the Septennate—Old World Notes.

LONDON, March 2.—The conservative movement with the object of forcing the government to deal with Ireland immediately is assuming a critical phase. A number of liberal unionists and conservatives about 150 ... supporters have ultimated [illegible] to [illegible] the government to [illegible] the closure debate on ... [illegible] ... all night if necessary.

The cabinet council convened for to-day was postponed by Lord Salisbury an hour before the time fixed for the meeting in order to enable him to separately consult with the ministers and try to reconcile differences on the extent to which coercion shall be carried in Ireland. A cabinet meeting will be held to-morrow.

Viscount Lymington has written a letter which [illegible] the feelings of the liberal unionists [illegible] against the government's want of action, nerve and courage and declaring that the treatment of the Irish question is taking day by day all heart and principle out of the unionist cause. He declares the vast majority of the liberal unionists are ready to accord the government that version of measures that may be necessary, but that it is in their view from any point of view that an Irish national [illegible] should be permitted to exist which, while refusing Ireland power to govern itself, refuses the government [illegible] in Ireland. After denouncing the [illegible] petitioning measures, prostitution of constitutional forms, such as jury packing, imprisonment of rambling lawyers and confused officials, he concludes: "An irresolute government is impossible. The only alternative is home rule."

GLADSTONE PREPARING FOR A GREAT CAMPAIGN.

NEW YORK, March 2.—The Star's London cablegram special says: In the lobby of the house of commons it was to-day stated that Gladstone will shortly issue a manifesto to the nation giving the details of his home rule policy and calling on the government to put an end to the present shameful condition of public affairs. The liberal leaders favor simultaneous mass meetings to decide for or against home rule to be held in every considerable town in England, Wales and Scotland. The tories in anticipation of surprise are preparing for counter movements.

GLADSTONE ON THE IRISH QUESTION.

LONDON, March 2.—Gladstone writes to the editor of the Baptist: "I consider that there is no opportunity yet for disestablishment of the Welsh church. No great political matter can be dealt with till the Irish difficulty is settled. An attempt by force to postpone the Irish question would only increase the pressure. The main reason why the Irish question is so troublesome, obtrusive and provoking is because it involves the social order of that country. It is in the nature of a social question and the people push their claims for precedence over others."

A DIFFERENCE OF OPINION.

The Situation One that Pleases Both Pessimists and Optimists.

NEW YORK, March 2.—The Post's London cable says that most of the foreign correspondents agree that any immediate danger of an outbreak of war is over, but there is a slight check to this opinion. There is a distinct class of observers whose view is founded on very grave circumstances and who declare that the real danger comes from Russia. There are several ominous signs of the temper of the czar. The first of these is information which comes from Constantinople that Russian agents have endeavored to organize a military revolt against the Bulgarian regency. The attempt has entirely failed, but will probably be renewed. The second sign is the massing of very large bodies of troops, especially Cossacks, at the Galician frontier. A third is the meeting of Russian generals at St. Petersburg which was summoned for this month. The most serious of all is news which is already spread abroad in the Polish press that the long contemplated suppression of De Giers is about to take place and that his successor would be Pobedonostseff, who is one of a triumvirate of reactionary Pan Slavists who have the czar's sympathy and practically rule Russia and govern her foreign policy.

The statement has even been made that Russia has definitely determined on war and is simply waiting a chance to attack some point of the Austrian frontier. This is the blackest spot on the horizon. The brightest is the prospect of a strong alliance between Italy and the two German powers. Italian parties are divided as to the wisdom of such alliance, but it is safe to say that there is more probability of it at this moment than at any period within the last two years.

WAR NOTES FROM BERLIN.

BERLIN, March 2.—An imperial decree has been issued, ordering for the first and second corps of the Prussian army a special series of exercises preparatory to the autumn maneuvres. Infantry divisions and cavalry brigades are to maneuvre against a supposed enemy. The total number of infantry reserves called out for the annual drill is 10,600, artillery and pioneers 14,600.

The military bill will again be submitted to the bundesrath. No change is made in the provisions, the government being sure of a majority in the reichstag.

It is rumored in official circles that changes are imminent in the French cabinet. Boulanger's influence, it is said, has so increased that ministers in favor of a peace policy will soon be driven to resign, Boulanger thus obtaining dominance in the cabinet.

AFRAID OF FRENCH RETALIATION.

BERLIN, March 2.—The North German Gazette says the people of Alsace-Lorraine elected protestors to the reichstag because they feared the French would retaliate in the event of war between Germany and France if annexation candidates were returned.

THE REVOLT SUPPRESSED.

VIENNA, March 2.—The Tagblatt states that the revolt of a portion of the troops of the garrison at Silistria, Bulgaria, has been suppressed.

NEWFOUNDLAND.

An Act of Declaration to England of Independence—Annexation to the United States Talked of.

NEW YORK, March 2.—A special from Halifax says: The address of the Newfoundland legislature to the imperial government has produced a sensation. It is not a declaration of independence, but it is the next thing to it. The Newfoundlanders tell the imperial government that they own their fisheries and they do not propose to pay the slightest heed to French or American interests or to brook any interference from the imperial government. The situation is so serious that both the premier and Sir Ambrose Shea, the leader of the opposition, have gone to London to report as to the dangerous character of the prevailing feeling in Newfoundland. The press and people are openly discussing the benefits of annexation to the United States. A writer would be hardly surprised if the present state of affairs and if annexation was submitted to a popular vote it would be carried by a three-fourths majority.

ENGLAND'S ANSWER.

LONDON, March 2.—The colonial secretary has sent a dispatch to the governor of Newfoundland informing him that the home government does not feel justified in disregarding the strong protests of France against restrictions as this is a period which are calculated to inflict great loss on French fishermen, and is therefore unable to allow the bill passed by the Newfoundland legislature in relation to the fisheries to come into effect this season. The secretary says the government thoroughly understands that the French bounties are a grave disadvantage to British fishermen, still it is not shown that the British fisheries are unremunerative.

GERMANY.

BERLIN VOTES AGAINST THE SEPTENNATE.

BERLIN, March 2.—The ballot in the first division of Berlin resulted in the election of Klotz, new German liberal, who polled 8,025 votes against 7,361 for [illegible], septennatist. In the second division Virchow, new German liberal, defeated Wolff, septennatist. In the third Munckel, new German liberal, had 11,460 votes and Christensen, septennatist, 10,6[illegible]. In the fifth Baumbach, new German liberal, has 1,481 and Bl[illegible], septennatist, 6,031. The fourth and sixth divisions were carried in the first [illegible] by socialists. Berlin has thus returned deputies opposed to the septennate.

At Lubeck the socialists engaged in a riot after the announcement of the result of the election there in which their candidate was defeated. The military intervened and made many arrests. A number of the arrested have since been released.

RESULT IN TWENTY-FOUR DISTRICTS.

BERLIN, March 2.—Supplementary elections in twenty-four districts resulted in returning 2 conservatives, 7 national liberals, 10 new German liberals, [illegible] socialists and [illegible] imperialist.

AFRICA.

TROUBLES AT MOZAMBIQUE.

LONDON, March 2.—Advices from Zanzibar say the natives of the province of Mozambique, taking advantage of the absence of the Portuguese squadron and troops at Tugela, have risen and devastated the trading stations and destroyed many British houses. The town of Mozambique is now threatened. The British consul has telegraphed for a man-of-war to protect the lives and property of British subjects.

WASHINGTON.

The Annexation Bill Ready for the President.

NO PROSPECT OF FORFEITURE.

A Number of Important Measures Passed by both Houses—Work on the Regular Appropriation Bills—Capital Notes.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—At the suggestion of Senator Edmunds, the bill as passed by the senate to annex Northern Idaho to Washington, was amended by adding to section 7 of the house bill, the words: "excepting criminal proceedings." Said section originally provided that all cases arising in Northern Idaho, pending in the supreme or district courts thereof, at the time of the passage of this act, shall be placed under the jurisdiction of the supreme court of Washington, and under the Fifth district of said territory. The bill was further amended by adding the following: "All crimes heretofore committed in the territory annexed by this act to the territory of Washington shall be prosecuted, tried and determined in the same manner, and with the same effect, as if this act had not passed." To-day, when Speaker Carlisle laid the bill as amended before the house, to refer it to the committee on territories, Delegate Voorhees stated that he had secured the consent of a majority of the committee to accept the senate amendments, and therefore moved that the house agree to the same. The motion carried, and the bill as amended now goes to the president. All north of the following boundary line is the part of Idaho annexed: Commencing in the middle of the main channel of Snake river, due west of the headwaters of Rabbit creek; thence east to the headwaters of Rabbit creek; thence down said creek to its junction with Salmon river; thence up said river to the junction of Horse creek; thence up the east fork of Horse creek to the crest of the Bitter Root mountains, as the eastern boundary of Idaho.

TO VALIDATE ACTS OF THE LEGISLATURE.

The senate to-day passed the bill introduced by Dolph providing that any act heretofore passed by the legislative assembly of Washington territory which has failed to express in its title the object embraced in the act, or which has embraced therein more than one object, shall be validated. Delegate Voorhees states that the speaker of the house has promised to recognize him for the purpose of having this bill passed, and he feels certain that it will become a law this session.

NO HOPE OF FORFEITURE.

The house conference committee on the Northern Pacific forfeiture bill has not yet reported its last disagreement to the house. Senator Dolph states that it is useless to attempt to hold another conference meeting this session. It is manifestly impossible for an agreement on a bill to be reached, as the senate committee will not accept the house bill, and the house committee will not accept the senate bill. He states that another conference meeting will not be held. The fate of the forfeiture bill is therefore sealed for this congress.

RAILROADS AND RESERVATIONS.

The difficulty experienced in securing congressional action for railroad rights of way through Indian reservations has suggested to Delegate Hailey of Idaho a general bill, which he has introduced, authorizing the secretary of the interior to grant rights of way through such reservations to railroad, telegraph and telephone lines; also for ditches and canals. Of course he does not expect action on the bill this congress.

By presidential order the military reservation of Fort Colville, W. T., has been transferred to the custody of the interior department, it being no longer needed for military purposes. T. C. J.

HOUSE.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—On motion of Crisp of Georgia the rules were suspended and the senate amendments to the house joint resolution for the investigation of accounts of the Pacific railroads were non-concurred in. A conference was ordered and an agreement quickly reached, and shortly after the house agreed to the conference report. The substance of the agreement in conference is as follows: The house conferrees adopted the senate amendments, but the clause creating the commission was modified by striking out the requirement that the commissioners shall be subject to confirmation by the senate, and so arranging the phraseology that the president's power to appoint them during recess shall be beyond question.

On motion of Voorhees of Washington territory, the senate amendments were concurred in to the bill annexing a portion of Idaho to Washington territory.

The house resumed consideration of the conference report on the fisheries retaliation bill, and after some discussion agreed—yeas 149, nays 131—to recede from the amendments to the senate retaliatory bill. A motion to reconsider the above vote was made. This passes the bill in the shape in which it passed the senate.

THE FISHERY BILL AGREED TO.

After debate, the report of the conference committee on the fishery bill was agreed to.

Rice moved that the house recede from its amendments to the senate bill; agreed to—yeas 149, nays 131.

Miller of Texas changed his vote from the negative to the affirmative, in order to enter a motion to reconsider, but this motion was laid on the table—yeas 142, nays 132. The effect of this action is to leave the bill exactly as it passed the senate.

Blount of Georgia presented a conference report on the postoffice appropriation bill, announcing the inability of the conferrees to agree on the bill. He moved that the house insist on its disagreement, and ask a further conference; agreed to—yeas 159, nays 107.

Crisp, of Georgia, submitted a report on the joint resolution (now a bill) for investigation of the accounts of the Pacific railroads, and it was agreed to.

Trigg, of Virginia submitted a conference report on the bill compensating Albert H. Emery for the construction of an iron and steel testing machine for the United States. The bill, as it passed the senate, appropriated $200,000. This sum the house reduced to $63,000. The conference report fixes the amount at $100,000.

The conference report was adopted—yeas 137, nays 98.

EVENING SESSION.

After recess Hatch of Missouri presented the conference report on the agricultural appropriation bill. There were two important amendments placed upon the bill as reported by the conference committee—one, an appropriation of $80,000 to enable the commissioner of agriculture to continue experiments in the manufacture of sugar from sorghum and sugar cane and the other increasing from $100,000 to $500,000 the appropriation for carrying out the provisions of the act establishing a bureau of animal industry and authorizing the commissioner to use any part of this sum deemed necessary to prevent the spread of pleuro-pneumonia and in the purchase and destruction of diseased or exposed animals whenever, in his judgment, it is essential to prevent the spread of pleuro-pneumonia from one state into another. There was much opposition to both these amendments, but the conference report was agreed to—yeas 148, nays 78.

Dingley, of Maine, moved to suspend the rules and pass the senate bill, with a substitute therefor, to secure statistics of and to protect vessel fisheries of the United States, to provide for the taking of testimony relative to injuries inflicted by British on citizens of the United States engaged in fisheries, and to amend the shipping act of June 19, 1886. The substitute is composed of the substance of several bills pending in the house and was characterized by Buchanan of New Jersey as a conglomerated mass of heterogeneous incongruities. The motion to suspend the rules was lost.

THE DIPLOMATIC BILL.

Belmont of New York presented a conference report on the diplomatic and consular appropriation bill. The report was agreed to.

A score of members rushed into the space in front of the clerk's desk, and waving their bills wildly in air, vociferously claimed recognition. The uproar was great, and for a time business had to be suspended. Barksdale, of Mississippi, was finally successful, and under suspension of the rules he secured the passage of a bill for printing the report of the commission of labor.

THE SUNDRY CIVIL BILL.

Randall of Pennsylvania submitted a conference report on the sundry civil appropriation bill. In their statements accompanying the report the conferrees say that the senate made 202 amendments, increasing the aggregate appropriation $1,033,617 over the amount of the bill as it passed the house. Of this sum the senate conferrees have yielded $1,093,216. The bill, as it passed the senate, aggregated $23,793,069. The house, when it considered the senate amendments, added to the bill $125,612, and in conference $12,000 was yielded, being for the public building at Portsmouth, Ohio, and $160,000 was added on account of public buildings at Augusta, Georgia, and Chattanooga, Tenn. The bill, therefore, as agreed upon in conference, aggregated $22,382,250, being $1,020,078 in excess of the bill as it passed the house, and $78,448 less than the law for the current year and $6,458,371 less than the estimates. The coast survey is left as it was last year, the house provision for reorganization being stricken out.

The report was agreed to without discussion.

Senate amendments to the naval appropriation bill were non-concurred in and Messrs. Herbert, Sayers and Thomas, of Illinois, were appointed conferrees.

A number of minor resolutions were passed for printing various public documents. The house at 12:45 adjourned.

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—Among the papers presented by the presiding officer was a communication from the secretary of war, with copies of all dispatches from Gen. Miles, referring to the surrender of Geronimo, and of the instructions and correspondence thereon called for by the resolution: ordered printed.

Platt, from the committee on territories, reported the senate bill to validate and cure defects in certain acts of the legislature of Washington territory: passed.

MODIFIED AND REJECTED.

Gray modified his motion to make the clause read that if it shall appear to the president that the vessels cannot be constructed advantageously on the Pacific or the Gulf coast he may consider and accept proposals for the building of said vessels at other places instead of suspending their construction until further action of congress.

Maxey said there should be one great navy yard established on the Gulf coast, where the best of iron, steel, live oak, and long-leaved pine were at hand.

The question was then taken on Gray's amendment as modified, and it was rejected.

Bowen moved to strike out the item of $6,000,000 for heavy armored vessels, or batteries, or rams, for coast defense.

Hale opposed the striking out of the item.

Dawes said he had just received a telegram from New York signed Ambrose Snow, chairman of the chamber of commerce committee on coast defenses and president of the board of trade and transportation. The telegram was in these words: "The whole commercial community anxiously hopes that some agreement providing adequate immediate coast defense be had. If not, public opinion will compel an extra session, which business would dread. I send duplicates hereof to your fellow conferrees." Dawes said, if congress adjourned without this provision, and if, as was intimated in the telegram he had read, public opinion was going to force an extra session of congress to make this provision, the fault did not lie at the door of the senate committee.

Pending further discussion the senate went into secret session and soon took a recess till eight o'clock.

EVENING SESSION.

Consideration of the naval appropriation bill was resumed, the question being on Plumb's amendment to strike out the amendments of the committee of $6,000,000 for heavily armored vessels, or armored floating batteries or rams, to be used for coast and harbor defense. The amendment was rejected without division. The amendment recommended by the committee was then adopted without division. It strikes out the house provision for two swift, double-bottomed steel cruisers, and four gun boats, all to cost (exclusive of armament) not more than $4,950,000, and inserts in lieu thereof a section providing for the construction by contract of six protected steel cruisers, with suitable armament, and speed of not less than twenty knots,—the cost of all the cruisers not to exceed $9,000,000. Additional appropriations are made for machinery and armament. One of the vessels is to be built on the Pacific coast and two on or near the coast of the Gulf of Mexico. For every quarter of a knot of speed over twenty knots the contractor is to receive $50,000, and for every quarter of a knot under twenty knots $50,000 will be deducted from the contract price. Further appropriations are made as follows. For the construction of heavily armored vessels, or armored floating batteries or rams, to be used for coast and harbor defense, $6,000,000. For the construction of light draught gun boats, suitable for interior water ways and canal service, $720,000. For the construction of torpedo boats of the highest attainable speed and efficiency, $600,000. For torpedoes and other explosives, and torpedo appliances, to be operated from naval vessels, floating batteries or rams, $600,000, of which sum $50,000 shall be immediately available. For armament of these vessels, $1,800,000. These appropriations to be available during five years.

TO PURCHASE THE "DESTROYER."

The next material amendment reported by the committee on appropriations, and agreed to by the senate, was the following: For the purchase by the secretary of the navy, if he shall deem the purchase advisable, of the Destroyer, a screw steam vessel of iron, designed and built by Capt. John Ericsson, $112,000.

Aldrich offered an amendment appropriating $25,000 for the purchase of the Stiletto, to be used as a torpedo boat for experimental purpose; agreed to.

The bill and amendments were then reported to the senate, the former proceedings being supposed to have been in committee of the whole. Edmunds called for the yeas and nays on the amendment for six cruisers, etc.

Plumb moved to amend the amendment by making the last paragraph read: "That material used in all naval structures provided for in this act, and armament for the same, shall be, so far as practicable, of American production, and shall be furnished and manufactured in the United States," etc.; agreed to.

A vote was then taken on the committee amendment, and it was decided in the affirmative—yeas 49, nays 9. The negative votes were as follows: Berry, Cockrell, Coke, Harris, Plumb, Vance, Van Wyck, Vest, and Wilson of Maryland.

The next amendment was the insertion of an item of $112,000 for the purchase of Ericsson's vessel the Destroyer. It was agreed to.

The bill as amended then passed without division.

THE NAVAL BILL.

The senate proceeded to the consideration of the naval appropriation bill. An amendment was inserted in the item for the bureau of steam engineering providing that no part of the appropriation shall be applied to the repair of engines and machinery of wooden ships where the stated cost of repairs shall exceed 20 per cent. of the cost of new engines and machinery of the same character and power. Under the head of "Increase of the Navy" the commissioners recommend striking out the provision for two swift double-bottom steel cruisers and four gunboats, to cost, exclusive of armament, not more than $4,590,000, and the substitution of two new sections providing for six protected steel cruisers, with speed of not less than twenty knots, to cost, exclusive of armament, not more than $9,000,000, and appropriating that amount. Also appropriating, for the armament of such vessels, $2,880,000. Also appropriating $6,000,000 for heavily armored vessels or rams for coast and harbor defenses. Also appropriating $600,000 for torpedo boats and $650,000 for torpedoes and $1,800,000 for armament of these vessels.

Gray questioned the policy of the provision requiring one of the six steel cruisers to be built on or near the coast of the Pacific ocean and two of them on or near the coast of the Gulf of Mexico. This was only trammeling the secretary of the navy and interfering with the general objects proposed. He was in favor of the accomplishment of what the section proposed, namely, the erection of swift, available and efficient cruisers, and therefore moved to strike out that provision.

Hale, who has charge of the bill, stated that when the bill was up some weeks ago a similar provision had been adopted, after full discussion of the motion of the senator from Alabama (Morgan). He had believed then and believed now that one or two of these vessels could be built, and built speedily, on the Pacific coast. The committee on appropriations had embodied those features in this amendment, taking a proportionate number, and instead of giving two to the Pacific coast had given one, and instead of giving three to the Gulf of Mexico had given two, leaving three to the Atlantic coast.

READY FOR THE PRESIDENT.

Hoar, from the conference committee on the Pacific railroad inquiry bill, made a report, which was agreed to. The bill now goes to the president.

On motion of Malone, the senate bill for the erection of a national memorial bridge over the Potomac, from Washington to Arlington, was taken up and passed.

It appropriates $500,000 to construct a bridge, which is to be erected in honor of Lincoln and Grant. The vote was yeas 30, nays 18.

A conference report on the agricultural appropriation bill was made and agreed to.

On motion of Wilson of Iowa, the house bill to amend the act of March 3, 1875, to determine jurisdiction of United States circuit courts, and to regulate the removal of cases from state courts, was taken from the calendar. The committee amendments were concurred in.

Cullom proposed an amendment providing that the salaries of judges of district courts of the United States, including judges of the supreme court of the District of Columbia, shall be $5000 per annum, and that no persons related to any justice or judge of any of the United States courts within the degree of first cousin shall hereafter be appointed to any office of the court of which said justice or judge is a member; agreed to. The bill passed 41 to 6.

Senator Allison, from the committee on appropriations, reported the legislative, executive and judicial bill, with sundry amendments, and gave notice that he would call it up early to-morrow. The aggregate appropriation of the bill has been very slightly increased over the amount fixed by the house. Among the increases are the following: $17,000 for the bureau of printing and engraving, to enable the granting of annual leaves to employes, as provided by the house, and $20,000 for pension examiners in the field. Fifteen additional clerks were given to the secretary of the interior, including five law clerks and one additional board of pension examiners were provided for.

The senate then, at 11:20, took recess till 10 A. M. to-morrow.

THE TEXAS INVESTIGATION.

Testimony of an ex-Congressman in Defense of the Democrats.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—Col. D. C. Geddings, ex-Congressman from Texas, and counsel for the democratic side, was the principal witness before the Texas investigating committee. He said he took no active part in the late contest. He went to a meeting at Brenham because he was in favor of law and order, and advised abstinence from all acts of violence. He had always advised against mob law. One memorialist afterward said that his pacific course had probably saved his (the memorialist's) life. There was great dissatisfaction with the republican administration and threats had repeatedly been made to prosecute officials. He thought that the unpopularity of the memorialists was not due to their republican views, but the fact that they manipulated the colored vote and placed incompetent men in office. He said the reputation of the memorialists was bad; that they were republicans for revenue only, and that when they failed of success in 1884 their occupation was gone, and having lost their prestige they wanted to leave. It was his opinion that they desired to pose as martyrs before the country, and be able to secure recognition in case of the ascendency of the republican party. The reason the people had not rebelled before was because they were peaceable and law-abiding people, and he believed that the people in no county, in any state in the East, South or West would submit to such republican methods of administration one year, much less twenty as they had done.

The testimony of Col. Geddings closed the evidence for the defense, and the committee adjourned till to-morrow, when evidence in rebuttal will be submitted.

DEMOCRATIC DISCIPLINE.

The President Punishing Congressmen who Voted to Overrule his Veto.

CHICAGO, March 2.—The News' Washington special says: The president is very angry with democrats who voted to overrule the veto of the dependent pension bill. He has expressed his views in the most decided language to those who have called upon him, and there are several who have already felt the force of the executive displeasure. At least two bills have been vetoed to punish those who went back on him—that for a public building at Lynn, Mass., and that for a public building at Portsmouth, Ohio, in which democratic congressmen are interested, because they voted to pass the bill over the veto.

Congressman Maybury, of Detroit, is shaking in his shoes for fear that his bill will be vetoed too; but he does not go near the White house.

If Matson should go up there he would hear something that would make his head swim.

The president has already given some symptoms of what he would say. An Indiana congressman says that Cleveland fairly shook with rage the other day when speaking of the chairman of the committee on pensions, who raked up the old petitions the president had signed several years ago for the passage of a general pension bill. He says he has no recollection of having signed it, although it is quite likely that he did so, without reflection on its merits; and Matson, finding it on the files of the house, brought it out on him. Matson is not likely to get any more favors out of this administration.

WASHINGTON NEWS ITEMS.

REPLIES TO A SENATE RESOLUTION.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—Acting Secretary Fairchild has forwarded to the senate, in response to Senator Aldrich's resolution, calling for information in regard to the importation of distilled spirits bonded for export, two long reports, prepared by the commissioner of internal revenue. In the first report the commissioner says it is now, and has been heretofore, a practice of the office to collect any and all penalties and interest that have accrued on such spirits. The second report is a document of over 100 pages of foolscap, and reviews every action of the department bearing on the question, together with authority for so doing. It also refers at length to charges made of alleged fraudulent practices in connection with the exportation and reimportation of domestic spirits and shows that they were without foundation.

THE FORTIFICATIONS BILL.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—There have been a dozen fruitless attempts during the past twenty-four hours to get together the conferrees on the fortifications appropriation bill. This bill, which failed of passage last session, appears to be lost beyond redemption. Another effort will be made to-morrow to get the conferrees together, but it is confidently expected that the only result of the meeting will be the recording of a total disagreement between the two houses.

MUST GO AS INDIVIDUALS.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—In the case of British Indians wishing to emigrate to Alaska, the attorney-general decides that the immigration of peaceful individual Indians, who have dissolved tribal relations, is not prohibited by statute, and is not inconsistent with the general policy of the government; but there is no provision assuring to such foreign Indians any legal right to acquire lands, neither can the president set aside a reservation for their occupation.

CLEVELAND'S COLORED MAN.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—The senate committee on the District of Columbia at a special and very short meeting this morning voted to report adversely upon the nomination of James M. Trotter, the Boston colored man nominated for recorder of the District of Columbia.

BILLS APPROVED.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—The president to-day approved the military academy appropriation bill, regular pension appropriation bill, the act to organize a hospital corps of the United States, and the act in regard to the importation of mackerel during the spawning season.

THE MORMON BILL TO BE SIGNED.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—The attorney-general has informed a representative of the anti-Mormons this morning that the Mormon bill will be signed to-day. The delay has been due to a desire of the president to give the bill careful consideration.

RESTRICTION ACT DECISION.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—The treasury department has decided that the wife of a Chinese laborer is a person whose original entry into this country is prohibited by the Chinese restriction act.

CONFIRMATIONS.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—Public Printer Benedict has been confirmed by the senate.

Postmasters: J. L. Hanna, Oakland, Cal.; L. Simmons, Buffalo, Wyo.

DIPLOMATIC APPROPRIATIONS.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—The diplomatic and consular appropriation bill has been agreed on in conference.

THE OIL MONOPOLY.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 2.—When A. N. Towne, J. C. Stubbs and Richard Gray, of the operating department of the Southern Pacific railroad company, left this city recently to attend the conference of overland railroad officials on the inter-state commerce law, it was not generally known that in the same sleeping car with these gentlemen went E. A. Tilford, president of the Standard oil company's Pacific coast branch. This was a fact, nevertheless, as has since transpired, and it has also come to the knowledge of railroad men and others in this city that Mr. Tilford has been in attendance at the secret deliberations of the railroad managers all the past week. This information is naturally of an interesting character to outside oil men here, who, ever since President Cleveland signed the transportation act, have felt that the day of their deliverance from railway extortion was at hand. They believed, and still believe, that under an honest enforcement of the act it would be impossible for the Standard company any longer to compel railroads to make such rates as 72 cents per hundred pounds to the oil monopoly and $1 20 per hundred pounds to anybody else. Section 2 of the new law, prohibiting special rates, rebates, drawbacks, or other devices by which one person may be charged more than another for like and contemporaneous service in transportation of freight under substantially similar circumstances and conditions, has filled the hearts of outside oil men with the hope that they may some day be able to transact business here on the same plane as the present monopoly.

RAILROAD NOTES.

A GENERAL CONFERENCE.

NEW YORK, March 2.—At a conference of the traffic managers, freight agents and railroad vice-presidents and managers held here to-day the classification committee's report, on which the agents and managers have been at work for the past ten days, was discussed. The report of the committee was accepted by the conference as read. It is understood that the adjustment of rates proposed in the report has given general satisfaction to railroad men. The committee appointed to consider a system of wholesale reductions to traveling companies and excursion parties will make its report this week. Some of the western men were in favor of applying the new law very strictly, but the eastern agents took a different view of the question and consider that the present system, with some slight modifications, will not conflict with the new interstate commerce law. It is expected that the conference will arrive at a definite understanding to-day.

THE MEXICAN CENTRAL.

BOSTON, March 2.—The directors of the Mexican Central railroad have voted to pay full interest in cash in future upon their 4 per cent bonds, as well as on their old scrip and debentures. E. Rollins Morse was elected to the board.

BRITISH COLUMBIA.

NEWS ITEMS FROM VICTORIA.

VICTORIA, March 2.—The special government force landed quietly at Vancouver to-day. The Chinese will return on Friday. Citizens are indignant at Mayor McLean, to whose lack of action in defending the city from mob law they now attribute the indignity of having the city placed under provincial surveillance.

D. W. Chauncey, an Argonaut and pioneer of this province since '58, died to-day. Advices received from the east state that by the death of his brother in New York state, a large steamer owner on the Hudson river, deceased had been bequeathed thirty thousand dollars.

There have been numerous land slides on the Canadian Pacific along the Fraser and Thompson river canyons. No mails have been received in five days, and are not expected for several days more. The Fraser river is blocked with ice. Navigation is stopped to New Westminster.

FOREIGN.

A Crisis Impending on the Irish Question.

STRONG PRESSURE FOR COERCION

LONDON, March 2.—The conservative movement with the object of forcing the government to deal with Ireland immediately, is assuming a critical phase. A number of liberal unionists and conservatives, about 150 government supporters, have intimated to whips their willingness to assist in finishing the cloture debate or curtailing discussions on supply by a protracted sitting, continuing all night if necessary.

The cabinet council convoked for to-day was postponed by Lord Salisbury an hour before the time fixed for the meeting, in order to enable him to have separate consultations with the ministers, and try to reconcile differences on the extent to which coercion shall be carried in Ireland. A cabinet meeting will be held to-morrow.

Viscount Lymington has written a letter, which reflected the feelings of the liberal unionists, protesting against the government's want of action, nerve and courage, and declaring that their treatment of the Irish question is taking, day by day, all heart and principle out of the unionist cause. He declares the vast majority of the liberal-unionists are ready to accord the government whatever strong measures may be necessary, but that it is insufferable from any point of view that an Irish nationalist law of government should be permitted to exist which, while refusing Ireland power to govern itself, refuses to govern Ireland. After denouncing the half-hearted pettifogging measures, prostitution of constitutional forms, such as jury packing and pettifogging lawyers and confused officials, he concludes: "An irresolute government is impossible. The only alternative is home rule."

GLADSTONE PREPARING FOR A GREAT CAMPAIGN.

NEW YORK, March 2.—The Star's London cablegram special says: In the lobby of the house of commons it was to-day stated that Gladstone will shortly issue a manifesto to the nation, giving the details of his home rule policy and calling on the government to put an end to the present shameful condition of public affairs. The liberal leaders favor simultaneous mass meetings to decide for or against home rule, to be held in every considerable town in England, Wales and Scotland. The tories in anticipation of surprise are preparing for counter movements.

GLADSTONE ON THE IRISH QUESTION.

LONDON, March 2.—Gladstone writes to the editor of the Baptist: "I consider that there is no opportunity yet for disestablishment of the Welsh church. No great political matter can be dealt with till the Irish difficulty is settled. An attempt by force to postpone the Irish question would only increase the pressure. The main reason why the Irish question is so troublesome, obtrusive and provoking is because it involves the social order of that country. It is in the nature of a social question, and the people push their claims for precedence over others."

A DIFFERENCE OF OPINION.

The Situation One that Pleases Both Pessimists and Optimists.

NEW YORK, March 2.—The Post's London cable says that most of the foreign correspondents agree that any immediate danger of an outbreak of war is over; but there is a slight check to this opinion. There is a distinct class of observers, whose view is founded on very grave circumstances, and who declare that the real danger comes from Russia. There are several ominous signs of the temper of the czar. The first of these is information which comes from Constantinople that Russian agents have endeavored to organize a military revolt against the Bulgarian regency. The attempt has entirely failed, but will probably be renewed. The second sign is the massing of very large bodies of troops, especially Cossacks, at the Galician frontier. A third is the meeting of Russian generals at St. Petersburg, which was summoned for this month. The most serious of all is news, which is already spread abroad in the Polish press, that the long contemplated suppression of DeGiers is about to take place, and that his successor would be Pobiedonostzeff, who is one of a triumvirate of reactionary Pan-Slavists who have the czar's sympathy, and practically rule Russia and govern her foreign policy.

The statement has even been made that Russia has definitely determined on war, and is simply waiting a chance to attack some point of the Austrian frontier. This is the blackest spot on the horizon. The brightest is the prospect of a strong alliance between Italy and the two German powers. Italian parties are divided as to the wisdom of such alliance, but it is safe to say that there is more probability of it at this moment than at any period within the last two years.

WAR NOTES FROM BERLIN.

BERLIN, March 2.—An imperial decree has been issued, ordering for the first and second corps of the Prussian army a special series of exercises, preparatory to the autumn maneuvres. Infantry divisions and cavalry brigades are to maneuvre against a supposed enemy. The total number of infantry reserves called out for the annual drill is 10,600; artillery and pioneers, 11,000.

The military bill will again be submitted to the bundesrath. No change is made in the provisions, the government being sure of a majority in the reichstag.

It is rumored in official circles that changes are imminent in the French cabinet. Boulanger's influence, it is said, has so increased that ministers in favor of a peace policy will soon be driven to resign, Boulanger thus obtaining dominance in the cabinet.

AFRAID OF FRENCH RETALIATION.

BERLIN, March 2.—The North German Gazette says the people of Alsace-Lorraine elected protestors to the reichstag because they feared the French would retaliate in the event of war between Germany and France if annexation candidates were returned.

THE REVOLT SUPPRESSED.

VIENNA, March 2.—The Tageblatt states that the revolt of a portion of the troops of the garrison at Silistra, Bulgaria, has been suppressed.

NEWFOUNDLAND.

Almost a Declaration to England of Independence—Annexation to the United States Talked of.

NEW YORK, March 2.—A special from Halifax says: The address of the Newfoundland legislature to the imperial government has produced a sensation. If it is not a declaration of independence it is the next thing to it. The Newfoundlanders tell the imperial government that they own their fisheries and they do not propose to pay the slightest heed to French or American interests or to brook any interference from the imperial government. The situation is so serious that both the premier and Sir Ambrose Shea, the leader of the opposition, have gone to London to represent the dangerous character of the prevailing feeling in Newfoundland. The press and people are universally discussing the benefits of annexation to the United States. Anything would be better than the present state of affairs, and if annexation was submitted to a popular vote it would be carried by a three-fourths majority.

ENGLAND'S ANSWER.

LONDON, March 2.—The colonial secretary has sent a dispatch to the governor of Newfoundland informing him that the home government does not feel justified in disregarding the strong protests of France against restrictions at this late period which are calculated to inflict great loss on French fishermen, and is therefore unable to allow the bill passed by the Newfoundland legislature in relation to the fisheries to operate this season. The secretary says the government thoroughly understands that the French bounties are a grave disadvantage to British fishermen, still it is not shown that the British fisheries are unremunerative.

GERMANY.

BERLIN VOTES AGAINST THE SEPTENNATE.

BERLIN, March 2.—The ballot in the first division of Berlin resulted in the election of Klotz, new German liberal, who polled 9528 votes against 7794 for Zidlitz, septennist. In the second division Virchow, new German liberal, defeated Wolff, septennist. In the third, Munkel, new German liberal, had 11,300 votes, and Christian, socialist, 10,870. In the fifth, Bamback, new German liberal, has 12,816, and Blume, septennist, 8031. The fourth and sixth divisions were carried in the first contests by socialists. Berlin has thus returned deputies opposed to the septennate.

At Lubeck the socialists engaged in a riot after the announcement of the result of the election there, in which their candidate was defeated. The military intervened and made many arrests. A number of those arrested have since been released.

RESULT IN TWENTY-FOUR DISTRICTS.

BERLIN, March 2.—Supplementary elections in twenty-four districts resulted in returning 3 conservatives, 4 national liberals, 10 new German liberals, 2 centerists, 4 socialists and 1 imperialist.

AFRICA.

INSURRECTION IN MOZAMBIQUE.

LONDON, March 2.—Advices from Zanzibar say the natives of the province of Mozambique, taking advantage of the absence of the Portuguese squadron and troops at Lugal, have risen and devastated the trading stations and destroyed many British houses. The town of Mozambique is now threatened. The British consul has telegraphed for a man-of-war to protect the lives and property of British subjects.

PORTLAND, THURSDAY, MARCH 3, 1887.

OBSTRUCTIONS TO BUSINESS.

The evils arising from taxation of credits are greatly enhanced by deductions of indebtedness. The credits are taxed at their full nominal value and other forms of property at one-third of their actual value; while deduction of debts at their full nominal value completes the system that throws upon unincumbered credits a weight of taxation that oppresses every kind of active business. Under such a system enterprise is suppressed; business contracts, shrivels and perishes, capital cannot be had for industrial and commercial purposes and Oregon languishes from year to year.

Every effort on the part of the state to interfere with the free movement of money is necessarily injurious, and no more complete system for promotion of stagnation and decay could be devised than the one Oregon has adopted. The usury law is another feature. Some seem to suppose that all objections to usury laws are answered by the statement that since advocates of free money claim that 6 or 7 per cent., net, is enough for money, since 10 per cent. is the legal limit, and since a usury law cannot prevent men from lending at a lower rate if they want to, therefore, such law cannot be an obstruction to business transactions. This is shallow reasoning. What is the object of a usury law? Simply to obstruct business transactions; that is, to prevent men from making contracts to pay such interest as they think money may be worth to them for any purpose they may have in view. Of course when the security is good and repayment certain, money may be had at a low rate of interest, particularly if the security is to be free from tax. But if the security is not altogether the best, and the lender knows he is incurring some risk, still he will very often take the loan if he is allowed to receive a large rate of interest. But here comes in the usury law, saying alike to the borrower and lender: "You are not competent to transact your own business; you need a guardian; and the state therefore must interpose by prescribing the conditions upon which your business must be done." The result is that the business is not done at all. All business in the least degree speculative, in the least degree risky, that depends in the least degree on the unascertained resources of personal tact, activity and skill on the part of the borrower to manage the business and carry it to success, is suppressed by the state. For money will not be lent for such business at rates within the legal interest and subject, moreover, to tax. The state, therefore, by its usury law, deliberately closes a large field against men of the most active and enterprising talents. It refuses to give men an opportunity to make up by courage, energy, enterprise and skillful management what they may lack in accumulated property and established credit. It is a blunder; it is a persistent error of ignorance, that ought long ago to have been abandoned.

Left to itself and to the operation of natural laws, money will always offer at the lowest rates consistent with the conditions of time and place and assurance or probability of repayment. A good security, untaxed, will now be taken in Oregon at a very low rate of interest; a good security, subject to tax, will be taken usually at ten per cent., though it is often refused altogether; while securities not based on realized property of two to four times the amount of the loan, are commonly rejected altogether. The usury law cuts off a multitude of transactions that would be based more or less on personal credit, if a man were allowed to use his credit for what it might be worth. It may not be worth enough to enable him to get money at ten per cent., subject to tax, but it might be worth enough to enable him to get it at a higher rate. Here, however, the law interposes and forbids the transaction; the state steps in to suppress business that would contribute immensely to its development and prosperity. Washington territory is wiser. It has no usury law; it is not subject to those obstacles to the free movement of money and business by which Oregon is paralyzed; and the consequence is that it is making far more rapid strides in the career of an active prosperity than Oregon. For years Washington has been gaining on Oregon at a rapid rate, and may soon leave her behind in business, wealth and population. Large part of the capital that has produced these results in Washington is Oregon capital, driven from home by laws that stand as monuments of our folly, to a neighboring territory, which is governed by an enlightened policy, where loans and credits are not oppressed by taxation; where usury laws are discarded as relics of medieval ignorance, and where the transactions of business are allowed entire freedom. During ten or twelve years past millions of Oregon capital have gone into Washington territory for investment, and the movement continues now at a more rapid rate than ever.

A notable thing in Oregon, and one that would be ludicrous if it were not lamentable, is the presence of an envious fear that if business is allowed free play somebody will make money; and with this fear there goes as its counterpart the absurd notion that if one man makes money another must lose it. Men like Judge Boise personify these ideas, spread and perpetuate them, and endeavor thereby to maintain a personal influence in the state. But the way to general prosperity will scarcely be found in a system that forbids to the active and enterprising members of the community an open field for the exercise of their talents, under pretense of favoring the less active and less enterprising; for the fewer obstructions there are to business and the greater the increase of individual and general wealth, the more rapid the extension of industry and the better it is for those who, because they must work for a livelihood, are miscalled "the poor." An obstructive system like ours, since it stunts enterprise, paralyzes industry and prevents development of the country, injures most the very class whom it is maintained, professedly, to favor and to aid. It is based on an ignorance that is antiquated and ought to be obsolete; it chills and freezes in their very source all suggestions of enterprising effort, and holds down the whole country to the level of its ordinary indolence and stupidity. Defense of such a system and its results is an apotheosis of fossilism, a benediction upon inertia, unprogressiveness and decay.

RESTRICTIVE LEGISLATION.

As early as the year 1639 the principle of restrictive legislation, as applied to sale of liquors, was recognized in America. In that year the law of Massachusetts ordered that "every town have liberty from time to time to choose a fit man to sell wine to be drunk in his house; provided, that if any person shall be made drunk in any such house, or any immoderate drinking suffered there, the master of the family shall pay for every such offense £5." As early as 1651 in a little town on Long Island an ordinance was passed "that no man shall sell any liquor expect such as are deputed thereto by the town, and such men shall not let youths and such as are under others' management remaining drinking at unreasonable hours, and such persons shall not have above half a pint at a time among four men." In 1655 an ordinance was passed forbidding "any one selling to the Indians any quantity above two drams at one time, and to sell to no Indians but such as are sent by the sachem and shall bring a written statement from him, and he shall not be given above a quart at a time." In 1760 religious societies began to protest against drinking liquors at funerals, a practice that the Quakers were first to abolish. As late as 1808 liquor was freely used at church donation parties and installations. At the ordination of a pastor at Hartford, Conn., the following was consumed:

Two mugs toddy, 2s 4d; 3 bitters, 9d; 3 breakfasts, 3s 6d; 15 bowls punch, 10s; 11 bottles wine, 3s 6d; 5 mugs flip, 5s 10d; 3 bowls punch, 6s; 3 bowls toddy, 3s 6d; 24 dinners, 24s 15d; total, £3 3s 11d.

Up to 1826 temperance agitation was pushed only against spirits. Even Harvard college allowed its students to drink Jamaica rum, and wine, beer, ale and cider were considered harmless. In 1838 Massachusetts passed a fifteen gallon law and Mississippi a one gallon law. The prohibitory law was first urged upon the Maine legislature in 1837 by Gen. James Appleton, but was not enacted until 1851; was repealed in 1856, and re-enacted in 1858. Massachusetts passed a prohibitory law in 1852; repealed it in 1858, re-enacted it in 1855, and finally repealed it in 1868. Vermont passed it in 1852; Michigan in 1853, and repealed it in 1875 Connecticut passed a prohibitory law in 1852, and repealed it in 1882. Indiana passed it in 1855, but it was nullified by the supreme court the same year. New York once passed it, only to have it declared unconstitutional by her court. The Minnesota legislature passed prohibition in 1852, modified it and defeated a bill for a constitutional prohibitory amendment in 1882. New Hampshire has had a prohibitory law since 1855. Rhode Island passed a prohibitory law in 1852, repealed it and re-enacted it a year ago. Prohibition under a "local option" law exists in many parts of Illinois and several states of the South, but mostly in rural localities.

STATE CLAIMS AT WASHINGTON

For several years past Capt. John Mullan has acted as the agent of the state at Washington for the collection of claims of some sort or another against the government. He was first engaged in this capacity, we believe, by the Grover administration, and has since acted by consent but without special warrant. He has rendered bills to the state for 10 per cent. of the amounts collected, and they have been audited by various legislative assemblies. During the past two years the amounts collected have been considerable, and Capt. Mullan's claim amounts to several thousand dollars. The joint ways and means committee of the legislature, at the session just ended, cut this down to two thousand and some odd hundreds of dollars and put it into the general appropriation bill. It was stricken out, however, in committee of the whole and Capt. Mullan must wait two years, and may even then get nothing. He thinks this very hard usage and his friends are making a great deal of noise about it. It was perhaps a mistake for the state officers to forward state claims to Capt. Mullan, but they did it and he earned his commission. He ought to be paid a fair commission, but with this payment connection with him should cease.

Since "chore boy" activity has come to be the chief qualification for congress, and even for the senate, our representatives ought to attend to this business and save the 10 per cent. commission. A special state claim agent at Washington is a superfluity. We have three representatives whose business it is to act for the interest of the state. The assertion that the collection of claims is beneath the dignity of these gentlemen should not have much weight when it is remembered that one of them did not think it unbecoming to spend two weeks last fall in trying a dirty breach-of-promise case before one of our local courts. Hereafter all claims against the government should be forwarded to our senators or representative for collection. Put forward by them, they would have much better chance of favorable action than if presented by an agent without representative capacity.

THE TRUE FUNCTION OF GOVERNMENT.

Massachusetts has recognized the fact that the true function of government is not to give all men freedom to develop according to their capacities, but to relieve individuals of all care and responsibility, and has, in accordance with this noble principle, added a nursery department to her public schools. Babies who would otherwise be a source of care at home are thus looked after at the public charge, and mothers are given more time to gad about and take pleasure. This much having been accomplished, it is now proposed to establish state music schools, where vocal and instrumental instruction shall be free. Commending this policy to its own state, the Milwaukee Sentinel points out that there still remain fields for public instruction calculated to make the people truly happy. The establishment of state music schools, it points out, should lead to an appropriation for a state dancing school. Indeed, in the systematic instruction of children by professional athletes in calisthenics we have the beginning of instruction in dancing. Ten-pin alleys supported by the state would add much to the happiness of the people. There is hardly any limit to the things the state may do to enhance the pleasures of the people, and it is gratifying to find legislators recognizing their true function.

In our own state we are making advances in civilization. Here we have a proposition to establish free nurseries in connection with the public school system. Our governor proposes that a bridge, to be built by private capital, shall be free to the public, in this respect being fully up with that advanced socialistic sentiment which demands that street cars be free. He hasn't yet got to the point where he would make lumber free to the people, but this will come no doubt as soon as he sells his saw mill. Oregon isn't such a slow country after all.

It is the opinion of railroad officials of high standing that the effect of the interstate commerce bill, as regards Pacific coast traffic, will be to divert through business from our own railroad lines to the Canadian Pacific and the Pacific Mail. That is, Portland and San Francisco can get much lower rates from the Canadian Pacific and the Pacific Mail than from our own transcontinental lines.

CALIFORNIA.

PROGRESS OF THE WORK ON THE CHARLESTON.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 2.—Within a few weeks the keel of the man-of-war Charleston will be laid at the Union Iron Works shipyard at the Potrero. The new ship-slip which it was necessary to construct in order to build the cruiser is nearly completed and will be ready for use in about ten days. Superintendent James Dickie, who has charge of the yards, states that once the keel is laid work will be pushed with great energy. All the iron that is to go into the vessel is being rolled and prepared for use at the Pacific rolling mills, and at Pittsburg the Carnegie & Phipps steel company is working men night and day in manufacturing the steel. The first steel plates are expected to arrive here in about two weeks. As yet only two out of three naval officers who are to superintend the construction of the vessel have been selected. They are Naval Constructor F. L. Fernald, who has charge of the hull, and Chief Engineer W. F. Smith, inspector of machinery. They are to be joined by an inspector of materials, who will be appointed shortly by Secretary Whitney. Every piece of material, before going into the ship, will be thoroughly tested by them, and it is on their decision, as well as on the trial trip, that the acceptance of the cruiser depends.

THE ANTI-POLYGAMY BILL.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 2.—The Examiner's Washington special says: The anti-polygamy bill will in all probability become a law. The ten days within which the president has to sign the bill will expire to-morrow. The opponents of the bill have abandoned all hope of defeating it, and to-night express the opinion that if the president does not approve it by affixing his signature to it he will allow it to become a law without his signature. Mr. Cain, Mormon delegate in congress, says his people will immediately carry the law into the courts and exhaust every legal means to prove its unconstitutionality.

SUDDEN DEATH OF THE CHIEF JUSTICE.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 2.—Chief Justice Morrison, of the state supreme court, died this morning. The cause of death was a stroke of paralysis, which occurred several years ago. He was taken ill again on February 23 last, and had not been able to leave his room since. Deceased was 60 years old, and leaves a family. The supreme court and civil departments of the superior courts adjourned to-day in respect to the memory of the late chief justice.

CHARGES AGAINST POLICE OFFICERS DISMISSED

SAN FRANCISCO, March 2.—A special session of the police commissioners was held last evening to examine charges made by ex-officer Burdett against Captain Douglass, Sergeant Fleming and Counsellor Clarke. After the hearing of testimony the board, at 1:15 A. M., went into executive session, and a few minutes after announced the dismissal of all charges.

THE OPERA HOUSE DYNAMITER.

At the preliminary examination to-day of Dr. James Hodges, charged with having exploded a bomb in the Grand Opera house during the Patti concert, February 9th, the judge held the accused in $10,000 bail for trial in the superior court.

GUILTY.

SACRAMENTO, March 2.—The committee which has been investigating the charges of changing the places of bills on file against Ray Falk, assistant minute clerk of the assembly, have recommended dismissal of Falk. The committee found Senator Moffitt and L. Buckley, a lawyer, guilty of attempting to have the places of bills on file changed.

CRIMINAL CALENDAR.

A RIGHTEOUS SENTENCE.

In this particular instance we would be pleased to have competition, in order to show by a practical test the vast difference that exists between the Silk adulterated with minerals and vegetable matter and the Silk made from the pure fibre of matured cocoon. We will sell you a better Silk for 75c than you can buy this side of New York for $1. We warrant all Pure Silk. Our Faille Silk for $1 is a marvel; usually sold for $1.50. We have all makes and prices in Black Silks. We have Silks 27 inches wide (actual measure)—worth in first-class Eastern houses $7.50, which we sell for the extraordinary low price of $3.50.

We have now in stock a line of Silks unequaled for finish and wear.

Competition we fear not. We know whereof we speak.

Think the matter over. We can prove just what we say. We invite you. ☞ Samples by mail. Goods sent C. O. D. to all parts of the country,

TO-DAY'S WEATHER.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 3.—Indications for the twenty-four hours commencing 4 A. M., March 3: Oregon and Washington territory, fair weather, with the exception of light rains in Southern Oregon.

AUCTION SALE TO-DAY.

Household furniture at No. 89 Taylor street, at 10 o'clock, by Gilman & Co.

OVERLAND PASSENGERS.

Passed Huntington to arrive over the Short Line: N. S. Kellogg, Mrs. E. Irving, L. Feldenheimer, Ed. Varney, and six emigrants. Passed Medford to arrive over the Oregon & California: Mrs. W. R. Davidson.

BRIEF MENTION.

[illegible] has gone to The Dalles again to establish a restaurant.

[illegible] to see the opening at the Tivoli this evening. All acts new.

Gas consumers will remember and pay their gas bills to-day, and save $1 per 1000.

Company A has an election of officers this evening. All members are expected to be present.

The ladies' committee of the Y. M. C. A. meet this afternoon at 3 o'clock to transact important business.

License to wed was issued yesterday for Chas. [illegible] and Annie Huehler and Stephen J. Chadwick and Emma Plummer.

One of the most interesting illustrated lectures yet given will be that on Pompeii by Rev. T. L. Eliot at the Tabernacle Friday evening.

The grand organ concert to be given by the Taylor street M. E. church next Friday evening promises to be one of the finest yet given in Portland.

Solomon Jacoby a native of Germany and Chas. [illegible] a subject of the king of Norway and Sweden yesterday filed notice of their intention of becoming citizens.

In the police court yesterday Henry Johnson was arraigned on a charge of adultery. He interposed a plea of not guilty and, by his request, the case was continued until to-day for examination.

The O. R. & N. company on the 1st inst. made a half rate for children between 5 and 12 years old. When the Hoult law went into force a three-fourths rate was made for children, and this has been in effect ever since.

An action at law was commenced in the state circuit court yesterday by Brigham & Weeks against William Ramsey to recover a balance of $362 79 for goods sold and delivered between October 1, 1878, and June 1, 1881. Also for interest, costs and attorney's fees.

Monday morning, at 8 o'clock, two energetic commercial travelers, George H. Boyden and James F. Sloane, risked their lives by crossing the Columbia at Grants on the ice. Returning from Rowena a few hours after, they re-crossed in a skiff, the ice bridge having moved away leaving the river clear.

Auburn hair must be coming in fashion again as a red headed wild duck was brought to this city a day or two since. Some may think that "it is no sign of a duck's nest to see a feather in a stump," and perhaps it is not, but the red hedded widgeon is an omen of something. It is being [illegible] for H. T. Hudson by Capt. Douglas and all [illegible] have a chance to see this rara avis.

Yesterday in the police court James Page, a youth about 19, pleaded guilty to sleeping in the hallway of a lodging house at Front and Jefferson streets. He said he was so drunk he didn't know anything about it. Page was arrested last week and released on his agreeing to leave the city but failed to go. He won't be able to go now for five days unless he settles a board bill with the city of ten dollars.

Mr. A. H. Huntington, writing from Baker City concerning deer growing a new set of horns every year, says he knows from experience that they do, and also adds: "When the antlers are in the velvet they are considered by many a rare delicacy in the way of food; and speaking from experience I can say they are the choicest part of the animal at that season." To look at a set of elk's antlers on a wall, they are about the last thing one would wish to have in their bowels, but circumstances alter cases, and they would fit well enough, it seems, while in the velvet.

PERSONAL.

Eugene D. Gilman, an extensive stock man of Eastern Oregon, was in the city yesterday. He has returned home.

Mr. F. H. Barnard, manager for Knapp, Burrell and company at Walla Walla, is in Portland, stopping at the Esmond. He is accompanied by his wife.

Gen. A. Anderson, third vice-president of the Northern Pacific, was in the city yesterday. He intends to go to Astoria to-day to confer with the chamber of commerce relative to the construction of a line from Hunters to Astoria.

Mr. J. P. Howe, manager of the New Market theater, leaves to-day for Chicago and New York in search of attractions for his theater. He promises to bring back the best or none, and we are sure he will secure as good as can be had.

Mr. E. C. Jorgenson, of Marx & Jorgenson, at present in Eastern Oregon and Washington, will start for Europe from Sprague about the 12th inst., being joined at that point by his wife and Miss [illegible] Henrichsen. The party will be absent several months.

THE STAGE.

NEW MARKET THEATER.—At the benefit to be given to J. K. Murray, Miss Genevieve Reynolds, Harry Brown, Miss Biggar and the rest of the principals of the Thompson Opera Company to-morrow night, a bill of unusual attractiveness and one displaying the best powers of these artists will be presented. As it is the final performance of this company prior to their departure for San Francisco they should have a good send-off in the shape of a substantial benefit. Reserve seats at Prentice's.

Why Children Cry

For Santa Abie is on account of its pleasant taste and old folks who have used it will never be without this King of Cough Cures, for it will relieve more cases of Asthma, Croup, Cold, Bronchitis, Pneumonia, Whooping Cough and all Throat and Lung troubles, than any medicine in this world. Guaranteed by all druggists.

This is a fact: In one of the schools in Haverhill, Mass., it is customary for the teacher to ask the scholars to name the principal articles manufactured in certain cities. A few days ago the city of Lowell was under discussion, and the scholars had named almost everything but cotton goods. Desiring to bring out the fact, the teacher asked what it was that was made in large brick buildings, and was used in every household in the land. Immediately a bright scholar raised his hand, and shouted "Hood's Sarsaparilla!"

Don't Be Bluled

into paying high prices for poor teas and trashy coffees, but go direct to the Great Eastern Tea Company's stores, 222 First street and 105 Washington street, where you can get exactly what you call for, and also secure some of their handsome presents. One given to every purchaser. Call at once and save money.

It's a Mystery

How they can give such fine dinners, with claret, for 50 cents at Brouillet's restaurant, 70 First. That's easily explained. You pay cash, and as to claret, they get it direct in casks from Napa and Sonoma.

Good News

for good livers. There is big opposition between Brouillet's restaurant, 70 First, and Campi's, just below. They are determined to break one or the other in the strife.

Rupture Permanently Cured.

No surgery. Work every day day; cures guaranteed. Call on or address Forden & Luther, Rooms 8 and 9, First National Bank, Portland.

For Coughs and Colds

Try our "Pectoral Balsam" (copyrighted), the old and reliable cough medicine prepared by S. G. Skidmore & Co., druggists, 151 First street.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

DAMAGE SUIT AGAINST A PROSECUTING WITNESS.—The examination of D. A. Griffin on a charge of forgery was concluded in Justice Tuttle's court yesterday and resulted in the acquittal of the accused. M. J Sammons, a Washington county farmer living near Cedar Mills, had Griffin arrested, alleging he had forged his (Sammons's) name to a note for $900. During the trial the note, which had since been liquidated, was produced and contained only the signatures of Jacob Wortman and Griffin himself. Mrs Thompson, who advanced the money on the note, testified that these are the only signatures which were ever on the note, while Sammons claims his was signed at the bottom of the paper and was afterwards cut or torn off. None of the witnesses examined, pro or con, bore Sammons out in his statement. Griffin states that his arrest was caused by Sammons out of spite on account of a cattle transaction. Immediately after the case in Justice Tuttle's court was decided Griffin commenced suit in the state circuit court against Sammons to recover $5530 for false imprisonment. The complaint sets forth that plaintiff had personal indignities heaped upon him by reason of his arrest and went through the usual amount of mental agony and bodily suffering, which he considers $5550 will soothe. Sammons, according to Griffin, recently collected a large back pension. Griffin is willing to divide it with him.

GOT AWAY WITH SMUGGLED OPIUM.—The well known opium smuggler Kelly, who makes occasional trips between Tacoma and this city, was caught on the train the other day with about a hundred pounds of opium rolled up in blankets. Fearing that he would be "given away" on his arrival here, he threw off his bundle and jumped after it. The train was stopped, and a brakeman who went back to see what had become of Kelly found him holding a big revolver. Kelly said, "Hold up your hands." It was done. Kelly continued, "I suppose you are looking for me. Well, I ought to blow the top of your head off. I've a good mind to do it, anyhow, just for luck." But he thought better of it and allowed the brakeman to go back to his brake, advising him never to make such another break. He probably won't.

A LOBBYIST SUES FOR PAY.—W. W. Swanny yesterday commenced suit in the state circuit court against McLeod & Co. to recover $670. Plaintiff alleges that he was employed last December by the defendants, who are interested in fish wheels at Celilo, as their agent, and that while acting in such capacity he obtained and had evidence submitted during the present session of the legislature to committees on fishing interests, and on account of such evidence obtained favorable reports from the committee were obtained in effect that fish wheels were not injurious to salmon, and by this prevented legislation prohibiting use of fish wheels. Plaintiff alleges his services were reasonably worth $200 a month, and that he received but $30, leaving a balance of $670 due him.

PRINDLE ON TRIAL.—Harry Prindle, an insurance solicitor and agent of considerable notoriety, was tried by a jury in the state circuit court on a charge of embezzling some $100 from George C La Rocque. Last summer, while at Nanaimo, La Rocque intrusted Prindle to settle some business for him in Portland and claims Prindle did so, but failed to make a satisfactory accounting. Prindle, on the other hand, avers that he was to receive a certain commission, and did faithfully transact the business given into his care. District Attorney McGinn conducted the prosecution and M. C George the defense. The result of the deliberation of the jury could not be ascertained up to a late hour last night.

DEBT OR LARCENY?—A short time ago Mrs L. Foster had A. E. Matschek make for her four upholstered chairs of the value of $28. Matschek on their completion delivered them at the house and as he claimed it was a cash order demanded his pay but on the representation that the woman's husband was out of town left the chairs. Not receiving his money Tuesday he demanded the return of the chairs and was refused. He then repaired to Justice Tuttle's court and caused Mrs. Foster's arrest for larceny by bailee. Yesterday morning the case was tried and and taken under advisement. Matschek claims that he still owns the chairs and that Mrs. Foster only had custody of them.

ROBBED IN A DIVE.—Tuesday afternoon John Allen, a farmer of Reedville, Washington county, visited John Faulis' saloon at the corner of Front and Main streets, and while there became intoxicated. Allen staid around the place until early yesterday morning and on leaving found he had been relieved in the place of $110. He reported the case at the police station, the result being the arrest of Al Slader, barkeeper in the place, Mary Dormer, Florence Fallon and Lizzie Faulis as the persons who committed the robbery. The case will be called to-day in the police court. In default of bail all of the accused were locked up.

REMINDER OF HADES.—A painting of the Kilauea crater on Mauna Loa as it appears during the present eruption, by Jules Tavernier, is displayed in Shanahan's window. It is enough to give a sinful man a fit of the cold shivers to look at this vivid representation of a literal lake of fire, minus the orthodox brimstone, especially as the native name of the lurid affair is displayed above—Hel-e-mau-mau—which may be easily translated mother of hell. It would seem that a large chromo of this lake would make a good standard for the Salvation Army. All hell-deserving sinners are invited to step up and look at this picture.

BUYING MINES.—The Tyler mine at Cœur d'Alene, which was purchased by a company less than a year ago for $6000, has advanced in value. A resident of this city, who has interests at Cœur d'Alene, made an offer for a lot of the stock at a rate which would make the whole worth $100,000, and stated that the whole of the stock would be taken at the same rate. Dennis Ryan, who once fooled away a mine for four and a half millions of dollars, which he invested in St. Paul real estate, has, it is said, bought one mine in Cœur d'Alene for $85,000, and another for $75,000.

TO FORECLOSE MORTGAGE.—Louis Nicolai yesterday brought suit in the state circuit court against M. A. Hackett, Mattie Hackett, Nathan Hackett, Louisa Hackett and the Multnomah railway company to recover $1,500 on a promissory note with interest from May 27th, 1881, and to foreclose a mortgage on lots 3 and 4, block 35, Albina, by which the note is secured. The money was loaned to the Hacketts and the Multnomah railway company are made a party to the suit for the reason it is averred they have some interest in the mortgage, but subsequent to that of plaintiff.

THE WATER COMMITTEE.—Yesterday afternoon an adjourned meeting of the water committee was held. A few bills were audited and ordered paid. The bill of the old water company for services in running the water works during January was referred to a special committee. Under the terms of the transfer the water company were to receive the lump sum of $2500, which was stipulated to be the running expenses for one month. However, the company bring in a bill for $2500 and quite a bill for "extras," which may be paid and may be not.

WOMAN'S EXCHANGE.—The Portland W C T U has just organized a woman's exchange, for the purpose of aiding the Union financially, and also as a medium of sale or exchange for women's industrial products. Mrs. L. C. Peirce was elected president of the exchange, Mrs. H. M Peirce, vice-president, Mrs. Ogden, recording secretary, Jane E. Weeden, corresponding secretary. Mrs. L. C. Peirce will proceed to call upon some of the principal ladies of the city to solicit their aid in the enterprise at an early day.

GOSPEL MEETINGS.—Arrangements have been completed for a series of gospel meetings to be held during the ensuing six weeks. They will be entirely in the hands of the pastors of the city and will be conducted by them. The first meeting will be held in the New Market theater on Sunday afternoon at three o'clock. There will be a number of short addresses and some good music. The names of the speakers will be published in due time.

CHANGE OF VENUE DENIED.—Yesterday the attorneys for Dan Moran made an effort to obtain a change of venue from this county to Clackamas county, and on Judge Stearns denying this motion they asked that the case be transferred to Judge Shattuck's court, which request was also refused. Moran will consequently have to stand his trial in department No 2, as formerly.

SALOON CLOSED.—Yesterday the Snug saloon, on Fourth street, near Salmon, owned by Martin J Higley, was closed by constable C. C. Meade, on a chattel mortgage in favor of Daly & Son for $200. Meade will sell the stock and fixtures at private sale.

MARRIED.—Mr H. H Newhall, of the firm of Graney, Newhall & Co., commission merchants at Wardner, I. T., was married last evening to Miss Louise Pape, of East Portland. The happy couple leave to-day for their home at Cœur d'Alene, I. T.

THE EAST SIDE.

Yesterday morning a boy named Towne of Portland, was riding down L street towards the river. He reached that part of the street between Ninth and Tenth, where the slough has been filled, and the earth near the sidewalk on the south side of the street is very loose. The boy rode his horse close to the edge of the street. When opposite Raffety's barn the dirt gave way and the horse sank down out of sight between the street and the sidewalk. The boy sprang off of the horse as he went down. Some men near by went to his assistance, and the animal was extricated from his perilous position. The horse was not hurt but had not assistance come in time he would have rolled into the slough. The place needs repairing at once. In passing that point all horsemen and teams should keep to the north side of the street.

PERSONAL AND GENERAL

F G Williams, of The Dalles, was in the city yesterday.

POLICE COURT

Charles Campbell one of the fifty to one hundred professional vags with which our city is continuously infested was tried in the police court yesterday convicted and sentenced to thirty days in the city jail. Campbell begged hard to be allowed to leave town and was informed the court or chief of police might give him a chance to do so within the thirty days provided it was thought advisable. Campbell has been furnishing "Doc" Johnson also in jail for vagrancy with opium and other such luxuries. Yesterday he defended himself by alleging he had worked as substitute extraman in the fire department for several months. This, it was proven, was three or four months ago.

C R Lang, a middle aged man who has been lodging at the city jail for the last two weeks was also tried for vagrancy. Lang interrogated one of the policemen who took the stand against him as follows. "Have you ever known me to do anything wrong?" "No, except go drunk." "Have you ever seen me work?" "No." "That's all." Lang in his own behalf, said he came here from North Powder, was a painter and sign writer but had failed to obtain work here at his trade. The case was taken under advisement until to-day. Ed Beatty who, like Lang, does not belong to the French "macques" association, was convicted of vagrancy and sentenced to twelve days. Beatty who is a young fellow, said he was a molder by trade and had worked until recently for the different iron works in this city. He alleged he was unable to obtain employment of late. The principal evidence against him was that he has been recently hanging around and getting drunk in a dive at Front and Main streets.

FOURTH SWEDENBORGIAN LECTURE.

The Rev John Doughty lectured last night to a large audience on the subject of "The Atonement." He took issue with the usually accepted theory on that subject. He claimed that the great mistake of the creeds was that they made the atonement of Christ to consist in the reconciliation of an offended father toward man by his son, as a separate person accepting the punishment due to mankind while the apostles consistently and everywhere taught that the atonement consisted in God in Christ as a single person descending into the world for the purpose of reconciling sinful man to himself. He claimed that the word atonement had no such sense to properly attach to it as that of substitution or propitiation, but that it simply meant a reconciliation. Thus, while the one theory required two persons or gods to answer its condition, which was contrary to scripture, in that God is always declared to be only one the other was consistent with the teaching of one God in Christ performing the entire work. He announced the subject of his discourse to-night to be "The New Church Doctrine of Heaven."

A NOTHER LETTER.

When moving to a new country it is most important that we select a good location for a new beginning. People who have sold their property and abandoned homes in the east and come to the northwest to stay have their fortunes to make or mar by the fact of location. If they are led to locate in dull and backwoods places their progress will be slow or backward. If they happen to find their opportunity at a live and progressive point their luck will be good and their fortunes sure. There are hundreds of people who will tell you to go this way and that to make your location. We of La Camas ask you to come and take a look at us. We have the most intelligent prosperous and progressive young town in the northwest. We have good water power good and cheap lands good schools good churches cheap living, good hotels plenty of work good wages plenty of business and every other element of future prosperity. I want a good planing mill foreman a sawyer for hard wood mill, a yard man and fifteen or twenty laborers right away for work in and around saw mill and dock. An experienced logger can secure a good contract at once. Take boat at the foot of Alder street Portland.

D H. STEARNS
Manager La Camas Co.

DECORATIVE ART

The latest craze in the East is the Japanese leather wall papers recently introduced in New York and which is finding its way to this coast. Mr C. F. Pearson 74 Oak street sent for samples of these papers and now has them at his shop being prepared to show and explain them to the uninitiated. These papers are prepared from the inner bark of the paper Mulberry tree by native workmen in Japan. Having been beaten on blocks on which designs are carved, they are colored and coated with lacquer, which renders them damp proof and washable while it prevents them undergoing any change from atmospheric influences. A great feature of the papers is the fact that the gold is absolutely untarnishable. Artistically speaking these papers are superior in many respects to those produced by European artists. Economically they are cheaper, and being of several thicknesses serve to keep out cold air. Those intending to decorate should call and examine the samples at Mr Pearson's.

G Lee representing Myers Bros & Co., of Richmond, Va. is stopping at the Esmond. Messrs Myers Bros & Co are the largest tobacco manufacturers in Virginia. They received the government contract last spring for one million pounds. Mr. Lee has charge of the Pacific slope and has an office in San Francisco.

CONCERNING WATER RATES.

WHEREAS, The city of Portland has, through the act passed by the legislative assembly obtained by purchase the property of the Portland Water company at a cost of $450 000 and are now and have been since the first of January 1887, in full possession of the said water works, and

WHEREAS The cost of operating said works as has been shown by said water company is less than $ 5 000 per annum and the interest on the $500 000 which have been sold at 5 per cent. per annum, amounts to $25,000, making a total outlay necessary for interest and operating expenses $50 000 and as the income of said works for 1886 was more than $111 000 as shown by the books of said company and is known to be correct and

WHEREAS The water commission propose to reduce the annual water rates only on those who pay $1 50 per month which includes but 1100 consumers and only reduces the gross income $5500 and

WHEREAS It is the opinion of this council that the water commission have no right to discriminate between the persons who pay a water rate of $1 50 per month and those who pay a greater or less rate all being before the law on an equal footing and as it is well known that many of the wealthy single men of the city only pay $1 50 per month for water rates and

WHEREAS The deeds and bills of sale of the property of the water company are made to the city of Portland and all of said property is under the jurisdiction of the mayor and common council therefore be it

Resolved That the water committee be and they are hereby directed to make a uniform reduction to all water consumers of the city of Portland and that the rates now charged be reduced at once because of the fact that water now costs more than bread and should be free as air. And be it further

Resolved That a copy of these resolutions be transmitted to the said water committee by the auditor and clerk, under the seal of the corporation of the city of Portland.

A motion by Gallagher to table the resolution was lost and it was referred to the committee on judiciary and city attorney. Adjourned.

ALBINA COUNCIL.

A meeting of the Albina council was held last night in Hill's hall Mayor Steffen in the chair. All members present except Councilman Foster.

Minutes of the last meeting read and approved.

PETITIONS

From W R Boone, asking that the Oregon Siftings be made official paper of Albina placed on file.

From W B Marye, offering his services to establish city grade in streets of Albina. A committee consisting of Councilmen Boggs, Stinfield and Bishop were appointed to interview surveyor Marye as to the probable cost of the work.

From Alex McManus, for permission to fill in intersection of Chapman and Knott streets granted.

Dr Fisher on behalf of the Albina fire department, stated that the company had thirty four active members and $600 worth of property and that the hose cart and other material was stored in the water company's building and he thought while they were contemplating securing a place for a city jail it would be advisable to secure quarters for the use of the fire company. Referred to the committee on fire and water with instructions to confer with the members of the hose company.

Bond of the city marshal of $500 accepted.

CLAIMS SUBMITTED.

L. W. Benedict, $3 50. J B Menafee, $14 50.

ORDINANCES

Regulating compensation and defining duties of city treasurer read first time.

Defining width of sidewalks referred to committee on streets and public property.

Fixing license of bar rooms at $300 a year, read third time and laid on the table for consideration at a special meeting next Saturday night.

The auditor called the attention of the council to the fact that furniture was required for the council chamber. Councilmen Bishop and Stinfield were appointed as a committee to act with the auditor and procure what furniture deemed necessary.

On motion of Boggs, 100 copies of the city charter and standing rules of order were ordered printed.

Adjourned to meet Saturday night.

A Black List

Of diseases follows an unhealthy condition of the liver, one of the most important organs of the body. Impure blood, bronchitis asthma malarial diseases, consumption, sick-headache diseases of the skin kidneys and heart—all may be traced to faulty action or torpidity of the liver. No other known preparation so rapidly and thoroughly restores a disordered liver as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It is pleasant to the taste mild but sure in its action, and a gift to suffering humanity from one of the most successful physicians of the age.

FREIGHTS—Yesterday's arrivals three iron and one wood are on the open list The market is weak locally and under advices

WHEAT—Still weaker markets abroad while Chicago and New York are rather higher San Francisco slow but shippers are willing to operate Here the market is all but inactive, and not at all changed

FLOUR—Receipts for the week 1601 bbls valley, and 1609 bbls Walla Walla, a light movement. Some of the largest mills are idle while others are running light Demands only fair Market steady on basis of $4 25 for standards The Ballochmyle has cleared for Liverpool with 1600 tons from various mills San Francisco is taking less.

POTATOES—Freer movement with the warm weather Shipments by two steamers 6360 sacks. While San Francisco is no weaker for choice there is so much poor to good offered that values have given way some. Oregon Burbanks do not sell as strictly choice. Paying prices here are $1 15 for Garnets, $1 20 for Peerless, and $1 30@1 40 for Burbanks.

ONIONS—Advices hardly so favorable buyers here at the close dropping the paying figure to $1 75, Late receipts have been rather liberal. Shipments by two steamers 100 crates and 142 sacks There is a disposition to hold shown PROVISIONS—Eastern markets slowly advancing, pork going up with a bound. Our market is steady to strong and the request seems helped by the firm advices Stocks of local held with great confidence. A lot of eastern hams in is selling at some advances over last prices. Lard slightly higher We quote selling prices Choice city or country hams 11@11½c, bacon 9@9½c, shoulders 7@7½c eastern hams 1[illegible]c, breakfast bacon nominal 11c local or eastern lard 8¼@8½c.

DRIED FRUITS—Receipts rather light Market generally firm with fair request Pears and plums in low stock. We quote selling prices from dealers Sun-dried quartered apples 6@ c, sliced 7@8c, new factory 9@10c, bleached 11@[illegible]½c new prunes 10@1[illegible]c French 8c graded 8@[illegible]0. pitted plums 9@10c common peaches 9@11 peeled 12½@1[illegible]c grapes 5½@6c new Bartlett pears 10c, raisins $1 75 per whole box

POULTRY—Chickens close firm, sales being at $3 50@4 for best. Turkeys 12½@14c. Ducks and geese plenty at $[illegible]@ and $6@7

EGGS Weak at 35c under large arrivals A decline is quite certain

WOOL—Eastern advices are of quiet and unchanged markets but there is a weak feeling generally

HOPS—Inactive as regards spot At San Francisco some slightly off color St. Helena sold 13c Business there upon eastern account is still stagnant which finds ready explanation in a letter from Germany dated late in January announcing the sale of about 3000 bales of medium and poor at [illegible]@3½c per pound, about 2000 bales of which were for shipment to America. These will cost with the addition of 8c duty, 10½@13½c per pound or less by several cents than California material can be laid down in that market for.

The Merchandise Markets.

Fair weather for a week, with occasional rains in the valley has melted snows on a level and given new cheer to trade of all kinds Over the eastern section the change is of great benefit to the stock interests. Losses are not of particular consequence but some time will elapse before stock is again in good condition Wheat is doing well enough Spring work will shortly be in order Merchandise arrivals while irregular, are of slowly increasing volume Rail receipts mark a steady increase. The Mobile Bay is at hand with general cargo mostly tin from Liverpool.

The outward salmon movement for February was 15,929 cases made up of 5499 to Liverpool, 626 to San Francisco and 7804 to the East. Well credited report has it that some 150,000 cs 1887 pack Columbia has been contracted at $1 25@1 27½ as also 71 000 cs Alaska and British Columbia at from $1 15 to $1 2[illegible]. A higher figure would now be necessary to effect similar business.

A review of the San Francisco markets for last week includes the following The tea sale held on Wednesday was more successful than its predecessors and there is evidence that this method of dealing is becoming more popular with buyers. The offering consisted of 1100 packages of China and Japan new crop about half of which found custom The attendance was better and the bidding more spirited than at the previous sales. The canned goods market so far as fruits are concerned is without feature of interest, business dragging along at unchanged rates Spot salmon is also quiet but it is hinted that business of some magnitude has been done in futures, and packers of Columbia river now ask $1 [illegible]0 on the river for export This rate is nominal but it is believed some large contracts have been made at figures [illegible] this quotation Recently a quantity of tin plate was offered in the auction room and brought $[illegible]@4 50 per box The sale did not disturb values, however and the rates continue steady at $4 90@5 Block tin is firmly held at 25c, with recent free sales for consumption. Within the past fortnight pig iron has advanced both on spot and to arrive in sympathy with foreign markets. Stocks in first hands are also light.

THE CHURCH AND THE K. OF L.

Great Rejoicing among New York Knights over Cardinal Gibbons's Attitude.

NEW YORK, March 2.—Cardinal Gibbons's favorable report to Pope Leo as to the aim and standing of the Knights of Labor set forth in cable dispatches from Rome was received with much rejoicing by Knights in this city It had been thought by many leading Knights that the McGlynn controversy and the attacks made by Henry George on the church would have prejudiced the authorities at Rome against the order and this fear was aggravated by the fact that Cardinal Taschereau, who sailed in company with the American cardinal had announced his intention of endeavoring to influence Rome to sustain him in his fight with the Canadian Knights The position taken by Cardinal Gibbons they say, will settle the whole matter He is an especial favorite with the pope, and his advice as to the treatment of any matter in which the United States is concerned will it is declared be taken as it is given. In addition, Bishop Keane of Richmond and Bishop Ireland of St Paul, who are both friendly to the Knights and who are recognized at Rome as representing the more progressive element in the American hierarchy are with Cardinal Gibbons to support him in the position which he takes

Cardinal Gibbons is in a position to speak more intelligently of the principles of the Knights than any other churchman Before leaving for Rome he carefully examined the manual of the order He also held a long conference with Master Workman Powderly whom he regards as a devout and conservative Catholic. His present position is the result of his investigation

It is said the Knights had powerful enemies within the vatican. Many cardinals thought the order to be of a character similar to secret societies of Italy and Spain, and opposed it for that reason

This report of Cardinal Gibbons's has no bearing whatever on the McGlynn case, nor will its indorsement by the pope carry with it anything more than an approval of the general plan of the order

In any diocese where a branch of the order may develop dangerous tendencies the local bishop will still have power to deal with it.

Organization of a New Trotting Association.

RETURN OF COLONEL GILDER.

The Tombigbee Disaster—The Kansas County Seat Feud—Further Particulars of the Bloody Affray.

DETROIT March 2—This afternoon the convention called to consider the advisability of forming a new trotting association, met and effected a temporary organization A committee on credentials was appointed and reported sixty-eight trotting associations represented from fourteen states A motion to form a new association was put and carried unanimously A committee was appointed with D C Bowman of Ottumwa, Iowa as chairman A committee was appointed to prepare laws to be presented to the convention.

A bill incorporating the new organization passed the legislature yesterday At 2 P M a meeting was held at the Russell house when the organization was made permanent and recess of one-half an hour was taken, to await the report of the committee on by law

The recess was prolonged It was late in the day when the committees on articles of association and corporation reported The name of the association shall be the American Trotting association and any persons corporation association or society holding or controlling any track or trotting association or other association for the improvement of trotting horse stock shall be eligible to membership In the report on by laws there is a slight departure from the by laws of the old association but the trotting rules remain the same The officers of the new organization are elected by the members thereof The old district boards are dispensed with A board of directors of which the president and secretary are members has control of all [illegible] and a board of appeals for the consideration of complaints. All protests must be supported by proofs If no proofs are furnished money shall be refunded and the protest withdrawn unless the board of appeal has good reason to believe the protest is well grounded All appeal must be settled within two months after decision are rendered Annual dues are apportioned on a basis of premiums offered ranging from $10 to $100

Recess was taken for supper without action on the report of the committee

After recess the by laws were adopted and the following officers elected President William R. Merrill of St Paul first vice president N C Beamer of Ottumwa Iowa other vice presidents to be elected by the state delegations directors W P Ijams of Terra Haute Ind Z C M Cottrell of Milwaukee R W Gillette of Detroit H C [illegible] of Wichita Kansas and F C Long, of St. Paul The secretary and the treasurer will be elected by the board of directors The executive member of the finance committee who with the president and the secretary constitutes that committee is D L Campau, of Detroit

THE ASSOCIATION'S BY LAWS

The by laws reported by the committee for that purpose and adopted by delegates present contain the following leading features The president vice president and directors are elected by the members. The secretary and the treasurer are elected by the directors All officials and directors are subject to removal in the discretion of the power appointing them

The by laws may be amended at any regular congress by a two thirds vote

In the absence of the president from his place of residence or in case of his inability the vice-president succeeds to his power.

The secretary and the treasurer are required to give bonds of at least $5000 each

All money passes through the hands of the secretary, and from his hands into the hands of the treasurer. In case money is a trust fund, subject to immediate distribution, it is the duty of the secretary to draw it out upon his warrant, and to remit immediately to the person or persons entitled thereto. If money is held subject to adjudication, it is his duty to draw and remit as soon as adjudication is had On the first day of January each year the secretary is required to make out and print, and send to each member a full itemized statement of all moneys of every kind received during the past year, including balances if any, for all preceding years. The annual dues are fixed by the board of directors in proportion to sums offered for trotting and pacing, and range from $10 to $100 If members hold no meeting during any year the dues shall be $10 A member who becomes a stockholder in the association by payment of $25 for a share of stock shall for the first year of membership, be entitled to a rebate of dues to an amount not exceeding $25, but a member whose annual dues are less than $25 is not entitled to any rebate after their [illegible] year Failure to pay dues before the 31st day of December of any year forfeits all rights as a stockholder or member and the stock is forfeited and canceled on the books

Any person firm or association owning or controlling a track, but not wishing to become a stockholder may become a transient member by paying the annual dues of the class to which it belongs but such membership does not entitle it to sit in the congress or any interest in the association but in all other respects it shall be entitled to the privileges of membership for a calendar year

A board of review is established in each state in which the association has one or more members The board consists of the vice-president for that particular state, and two competent persons to be by him appointed, subject to approval of the president That board has jurisdiction of all matters relating to the turf in that state. The vice president is chairman of the board. Boards of review convene when there is any business requiring their attention at such convenient place and times as the chairman may determine. Two members of a board of review constitute a quorum. If any time a quorum fails to attend, all cases pending before it shall go at once to the board of appeals, unless the parties interested agree to have them continued to a future meeting of the board of review.

The board of directors of which the president and the first vice-president are ex officio members, constitute the board of appeals that board meets on the first Tuesday in May and December of each year It has jurisdiction of all appeals of law, as well as original jurisdiction to prevent and punish frauds and abuses. A decision of the board of appeals is final. Suspension or expulsion of a member shall include the course controlled by it at the time, until otherwise ordered by the board of directors. No fine, suspension expulsion or penalty ordered through or by the National Trotting association shall be recognized or enforced by this association, except such as have been or may be held in Chicago two years hence.

COL GILDER RETURNS.

He Misses the Hudson Bay Boat, and Comes Home by Dog Train.

WINNIPEG, Manitoba, March 2—Col. Gilder arrived to-day at Selkirk, a small town twenty five miles east of here, and was interviewed by the Times correspondent over the telephone. He gave the following account of himself After leaving Winnipeg last fall, he had a very unpleasant voyage to York Factory which occupied two months. He was unable to get all the way and had to travel in a canoe, getting Indians to bring the outfit and supplies along. He reached Fort Churchill too late to catch the Hudson Bay boat to Nottingham island, and as he would have to stay several months about Churchill without occupation he decided to return to New York to transact some business after which he says he will leave on time to catch the Hudson Bay boat next time, several months hence or else catch a whaling vessel bound for the northern seas next summer and go in through Hudson's straits

He left his companion, Griffith, at Fort Churchill with instructions to take stores and proceed to Nottingham island by the first Hudson's Bay boat Gilder promised to join him there if he did not join him at Churchill by taking a steamer from Winnipeg up the same route as that he adopted last fall

Being asked if he had abandoned the project of reaching the pole he replied indignantly that he had not, and was not the kind of a man to abandon such a scheme. He came all the way down from Churchill by dog train having a pretty rough time of it. He says both himself and Griffith are in good health and expressed the opinion that the Hudson's straits are navigable for powerful vessels all the year round. He expects to leave for New York shortly

ABBETT DEFEATED.

The New Jersey Legislature Elects a Railroad Man Named Blodgett.

TRENTON March 2.—At the conclusion of the first ballot it was evident that the republicans had consolidated on a democrat to defeat Abbett. All of them, except two voted for Blodgett making thirty six who thus voted for him A second ballot was ordered amid much excitement. Before the result was announced an attempt was made to stampede the republicans in a body to Senator Sewell in the hope of carrying enough democrats to elect him but this failed as the republicans feared that Gov Abbett would profit by it. In the confusion a number of changes were made, and the vote as finally announced stood Blodgett 41 Abbett 38 F E Potter 1 Blodgett was declared elected amid wild excitement

Rufus Blodgett the new senator was born in Dorchester N H November 19 1834 He was a member of the lower house of the New Jersey legislature in 18[illegible]8 and 1879, representing Ocean county He afterwards removed to Monmouth county where he now resides. He is identified with the interests of several railroad companies and has always been recognized as a staunch democrat In the assembly he was a democratic leader. He is a fluent speaker and of commanding figure He was for several years a member of the democratic state central committee. He is superintendent of the New York & Long Branch railroad.

THE IRON TRADE.

The Western Association Reaffirms the Old Card Rate

PITTSBURG March 2—The Western Iron association met in this city to day and unanimously decided to reaffirm the card rate. The meeting was the largest that has been held for years all associations west of the Allegheny mountains being represented. It was considered certain that prices would be advanced, but after thoroughly considering it the manufacturers deemed it best to make no change for the present Reports that certain manufacturers were selling above the two cent card were lower rates and found to be untrue. The trade was reported unusually good in this season, and a prosperous year undisturbed by wage troubles is looked for by the officers of the association The failure to advance prices was a disappointment to workmen as an increase in the card rate meant higher wages for all skilled employes

THE TOMBIGBEE DISASTER

First Reports of Terrible Loss of Life Confirmed—Particulars of the Horror

MOBILE Ala. March 2—News of the burning of the steamer Gardner is coming in slowly None was received till this afternoon The fire was discovered by Capt Stone A negro deckhand threw water on a burning bale and in throwing another bucketful his clothes caught fire Panic stricken he ran from place to place setting fire to cotton bales and in a few moments the boat was in flames all over She was in midstream and in motion The pilot was driven from the wheel and the crew and passengers jumped overboard Those lost were drowned It is thought no more than one or two were burned Capt. Stone saved himself by swimming ashore

The steamer Tally was behind the Gardner waiting to pass As soon as the flames broke out the Tally lowered boats and threw out bales of seed sacks and planks to help people who were jumping from the Gardner The heat was so intense that the Tally did not dare go near but her boats picked up a number of people Had it not been for the presence of the Tally but few would have been saved

When the fire broke out the Gardner was ordered run ashore She backed and bells were rung for going ahead but the engineers were driven from their post by the flames The boat drifted into the woods on the opposite side from where there was a practicable landing Pilot W A Wilson remained in the pilot house until he [illegible] and that his [illegible] were [illegible] and that the flames were licking the sill of the pilot house when he fled for life

The report of the loss of life is confirmed A cabin boy of the Tally named Barber colored performed heroic deeds in saving five lives while he did by swimming ashore with them to the water The screams of those on the boat were heartrending Mrs. W J Rembert threw one child into the water her husband taking [illegible] [illegible] The [illegible] jumped in All but [illegible] were lost

Mrs. Julie Rembert was on board but she was saved from drowning [illegible] [illegible] The boat was insured and was valued at $1[illegible]00 The cotton was insured for $[illegible]000

THE KANSAS COUNTY SEAT FEUD

Further Particulars of the Bloody Affray at Coronado—The End Not Yet.

DENVER March 2—It appears that the fight at Coronado [illegible] [illegible] county seat [illegible] W[illegible] county a [illegible] first reported A telegram from Walla [illegible] the [illegible] as follows [illegible] Sunday last a body of [illegible] at Coronado Wallace county [illegible] [illegible] there On that day [illegible] Coulter Bill Raynes Ernis Johnson George Watkins, Ernest [illegible] A Borey and [illegible] son left Leota and went to Coronado some of them to have fun and others to [illegible] Three of them were armed They took beer with them and after arriving there proceeded to drink with some of the Coronado boys They got quarreled and Coulter and one Loomis drew their revolvers and began shooting. This was the signal for the war to begin and the Coronado crowd opened on the Leota crowd from windows and secured places. Coulter Raynes and Loomis fell the first two dead and the last with a leg and arm broken The Coronado fellows then turned on the other Leota men who had got into their buggy and were fleeing for their lives Winchesters were used freely and three of the Leota men were shot out of the buggy The team being wounded ran away to Leota and only two of the men got in with it The others were picked up and taken to town. Watkins died yesterday Borey Johnson and Loomis are expected to die Both towns are surrounded with guards and no one allowed to enter who is not well known. Both are fully armed and provided with ammunition The bodies of Coulter and Watkins were brought to Wallace last night and taken east for burial Watkins was married and his body was accompanied by his wife. They were from Illinois Coulter's body was taken by his sister to Russell, Kansas Raynes was buried at Leota. The end is not yet.

ACROSS THE PACIFIC.

The New Ocean Steamship Line of the Canadian Pacific.

NEW YORK, March 2.—The Canadian Pacific railway to which recently was chartered the Cunard steamships Parthia Batavia and Abyssinia for its Pacific trade has arranged to start its first line from Vancouver to Japan and China ports The Parthia will be the pioneer steamer of the line leaving Hong Kong by the way of Hiogo and Yokohama for Vancouver The vessels will run monthly until new steamships are built. The line will connect with the Peninsular and Oriental, and Messagerie's Maritime lines in the East India trade.

EASTERN NEWS ITEMS.

EARTHQUAKE.

BABYLON, L I March 2—A shock of earthquake was very perceptibly felt in this village between 4 15 and 4 30 this afternoon. Many buildings swayed slightly It is reported that some timbers in the Presbyterian church steeple were displaced Few persons here, although many felt the shock knew at the time that it was an earthquake Since the fact became generally known alarm is expressed in anticipation of further shocks raising the fears of some as to their safety The shock lasted a few seconds

FAR ROCKAWAY March 2—About the middle of the afternoon a low rumbling sound followed by a distinct tremor of the earth which shook many buildings was noticed here, and at the time was supposed to be caused by the firing of heavy cannon at sea. It is now supposed to have been a shock of earthquake

LONG ISLAND CITY March 2—An earthquake shock was felt on the south side of Long Island at 4.30 o clock this afternoon Windows on Fire island rattled and the observatory was shaken The vibrations lasted several seconds Babylon and villages west to Jamaica report having felt the shock

HUNTER'S POINT March 2—It has been impossible to obtain any but very meagre details of the earthquake shock felt at several points along the coast of Long Island this afternoon Fire island and Babylon Baldwin and Far Rockaway are the only places heard from so far

SUDDEN DEATH OF AN UNKNOWN WOMAN

DENVER March 2.—Yesterday afternoon a lady, very handsomely attired, entered the Queen City hotel and registered the name of Miss Malmberg Chicago At supper time she appeared at the table, and seemed in good health. After supper she retired, and that was the last seen of her alive. This morning, as she did not appear in the dining room a servant went to her apartment and knocked repeatedly at the door Failing, to get a reply, she apprised the landlord of the fact, and a peep into the room over the transom revealed her lying dead on the bed fully attired as if she had lain down for rest, and then died. The cause was probably heart disease She had no baggage with her only a hand satchel and travelling shawl In her pocket was found $19 in cash, but nothing whatever established her identity beyond a card bearing the words "Miss Malmberg." The remains were taken to the coroner's.

THE BEER FIGHT

NEW YORK March 2—Brewers and liquor dealers both profess satisfaction to-day with the present position on the pool beer boycott. The pool brewers claim that the independent brewers in this city and western cities have more on hand than is needed to supply regular customers. The Liquor Dealers Association claims on the other hand, that the pool brewers have been preparing for the present state of things ever since November last when the new pool regulations went into effect. It says that from Toledo, Ohio alone a train of beer will be supplied if necessary every day at the bare cost of production as the brewers there are very anxious to make a market in New York M requests for extra pool beer are reported to be constantly coming in. No further break is announced in New York.

TWO NEGROES LYNCHED.

NEW ORLEANS March 2—A special to the Picayune from Yazoo City Miss gives the following account of the lynching of two colored men at Sidon Leflore county last night Within the past two months two gin houses one cotton house and more than one hundred bales of cotton have been burned in the neighborhood by incendiary fires. Thomas and Terry Mack two notorious negroes were arrested on Tuesday charged with the crime and were brought to trial before a justice of the peace. At the trial the evidence was so strong against them that the citizens became infuriated and last night a company of nearly one hundred masked men, white and colored took the prisoners and hanged them

APPEAL TO THE "CORNER RULE."

CHICAGO March 2.—The deal in May pork on the board of trade resulted to-day in an appeal to the "corner rule" This is a demand that the directors of the board meet and fix a marginal price for articles in question. To-night the directors adopted this course and the value was declared to be $15 To-morrow bears and shorts can call brokers and commission houses which are long down to that figure As trades have been made as high as $19 25 per barrel the effect would be disastrous were it not that the deal is apparently in the hands of a strong man Only a couple of these appeals have ever been made, and they were without effect on the corner

ANOTHER BRAKEMEN'S STRIKE.

YOUNGSTOWN Ohio March 2—All freight brakemen on the New York Pennsylvania & Ohio railroad of the yard and road crews struck this morning and freight traffic on the line is entirely suspended. The employes had a meeting last evening and were informed that Superintendent O'Brien had given instructions to enforce the order [illegible] the third brakeman of each crew and acting upon this information the men decided to quit work They assert that when the strike was settled last fall it was agreed that each crew should have three brakemen
